Gliks sponsoring mammography screening at greatly reduced fee

Low-cost mammography screening, a procedure offered through St. Elizabeth Medical Center which makes early detection of breast tumors possible, is now being made more affordable for area residents, thanks to the generosity of the Gliks family.

The Gussie Gliks Cancer Fund, formed to honor the late Gussie Gliks on her 55th birthday last April, has raised more than $15,000 to be used by the medical center in its breast cancer detection program. Mrs. Gliks, the wife of Joseph Gliks, head of the Gliks apparel stores, died from an inoperable cancer in June. The fund was started at her request.

St. Elizabeth offered the $95 procedure to the general public at a reduced cost of $55 during a June screening program. The Gliks donation will now make the procedure available for $25.

The screenings will be offered at the new reduced rate until the funds are exhausted, according to Jack Gliks, medical center president. About 400 screenings are expected to be done for the $25 charge.

Grievs said. Payment will be required at the time of service.

Any woman wishing to have the procedure done must have a physician's order before calling for an appointment. Grievs added, "This requirement will assure that patients get the appropriate follow-up care," he said.

SEMC conducted mammography screening for 150 of its staff last spring and for 200 area women in June. Of the 350 tested, 20 showed positive findings which required medical follow-up.

The American Cancer Society suggests that women have an initial mammogram between ages 35 and 40, followed by a mammogram every year or two until age 50, and then annual breast x-rays.

One out of every 11 women is affected by breast cancer, and 100,000 will discover that they have the disease this year alone. Early treatment can reduce the mortality rate from breast cancer by 30 to 40 percent, and yet only about 10 percent of all women regularly get mammograms.

The Gliks family requested that the funds be used for the underwriting of the mammography procedure.

The Gliks' support of SEMC's mammography screening program, Grievs said, indicates "how important we (SEMC and the Gliks) think this procedure is; the medical center is willing to offer it, basically, at cost, and the Gliks are willing to underwrite that even more."

"We hope that these screenings are making people aware that there is a high incidence of breast cancer, and that early detection is the key to long-term survival."

St. Elizabeth's state-of-the-art mammography system provides high-quality, high-sensitivity images with minimal radiation exposure. The relatively painless procedure, which takes 15 minutes, is done in a private setting by female technologists. Special instructions concerning preparation for testing will be given when an appointment is made.

To make an appointment, the Radiology Department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City may be called at 798-3181.

Girl Scout neighborhoods to reorganize

Girl Scouts in Granite City are being united into one group. In the past, local registered Girl Scouts were divided, by schools, into three groups — Neighborhoods two, four and five.

At the April 1986 board of directors meeting a petition to merge the three neighborhoods into one was approved. It will be known as District IV. Neighborhood two. Joyce Valbert has agreed to serve as neighborhood chairman and Marianne James has agreed to serve as assistant neighborhood chairman.

Other service team members will be: press representative — Pam Mathews; cookie chairman — Sylvia Molski and Melva Winnie; and neighborhood events chairman — Vickie Jacobs.

Each school will have a troop organizer/consultant but there are vacancies in these positions. Anyone interested in filling a vacancy is to call Joyce Valbert or Marianne Sampson at 345-1606.

Plans are being formulated for a special Girl Scout event in Granite City to take place this fall.

Home repair program Aug. 19

Walk-On (Women and Men Are Learning Knowledge of Necessities) will sponsor a presentation by Mr. Tinker of Central Hardware on home repairs and home winterizing on Tuesday, Aug. 19, at the Nameoki Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Walk-On, an organization formed by Thomas Mortuaries Ltd. to help people deal with the emotional and financial problems brought on by the death of a loved one, will offer a social hour from 6:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. with refreshments and snacks for individuals who find themselves socially isolated because of the transition from marriage to widowhood.

Mr. Tinker was created by Central Hardware 13 years ago to assist customers needing help with a variety of indoor and outdoor home improvements and a variety of other projects. Bob Stansbury, who has been with Central Hardware for 34 years, but who has been Mr. Tinker started out on the radio with people calling in with a number of consumer problems.

Now, because of the popularity of Mr. Tinker, there is a number (1-314-947-3000) that people can call Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. to ask questions.

The idea of Mr. Tinker and consumer assistance was adopted immediately by the community, he said.

This program is open to the public. Those wanting information may call Liz Neeley at 876-4321.

Many abused by alcoholic mothers

A federally-funded project to help solve the problem of alcoholic mothers abusing and neglecting their children is being jointly operated by two Illinois state departments, Children and Family Services (DCFS) and Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (DASA).

"Project SAFE (Substance Abuse and Alcohol-Free Environment) was announced by DCFS Director Gordon Johnson and DASA Director William T. Atkins.

Demonstration sites for the two-year program are the Franciscan Mental Health Center in Rock Island, covering two counties, the Mississippi Mental Health Center in Dixon (four counties) and the Spoon River Community Mental Health Center in Galesburg (four counties). Each site will serve 50 families.

Funding for Project SAFE is provided by a $300,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Resources from October 1985 through September 1987. DCFS serves as lead agency under terms of the grant.

The three-phase program — start-up, demonstration and evaluation — includes alcoholism assessment and treatment, parenting training, child care, in-home services and counseling, self-help groups and community support networks. When completed, the program model can be used by child protective agencies in Illinois and throughout the nation.

"The link between alcohol abuse and child neglect has been documented by alcoholism professionals for at least 10 years," said Johnson. "Statistics clearly illustrate the magnitude of the problem."

Johnson cited a recent DASA program in Chicago where 75 percent of the women self-reported neglectful parenting. Fifty percent of those women had lost custody of their children before entering the program.

Johnson added, "DCFS supervisors report 144,900 or 43 percent of their neglect cases in fiscal 1985 included parents who were substance dependent. In three out of four of these cases, the mother was the parent with the alcohol problem."

Measurable agency-related goals for Project SAFE include training of DCFS child-welfare staff in alcoholism and DASA staff in child welfare issues.

Measurable client-related goals are improved parenting demonstrated by about 75 percent of the mothers and a 70 percent decrease in child neglect reports involving project mothers.

Physical condition and behavior of the project children will be improved by regular diet, better clothing and grooming, and improved day care and school attendance.

Project model-related goals are development of a program handbook, program presentations at national professional conferences, and technical assistance to six to eight public or private social service agencies which wish to install the model.

Regular services of the three mental health centers serving as Project SAFE demonstration sites include diagnosis and treatment of emotional and chemical dependency problems.

River Bluffs to mark 25th year

"Old Girl Scouts never die...they just...what?" The River Bluffs Girl Scout Council wants to find out. All former leaders and girl members are invited to take part in 25th anniversary events and report on what's been happening in their lives. Barbara Maynard, of the council staff, said.

There will be opportunities for reminiscing. An anniversary dinner is planned for Oct. 6 at Ramada Inn in Fairview Heights, she said.

An open house at the Girl Scout Service Center will be held Oct. 11. Refreshments and entertainment will be provided.

Informal tours will be held Oct. 7 through 9.

She asks that the Girl Scout Service Center be called to obtain an invitation to the 25th anniversary events. The numbers are 692-0692, 652-6404, 254-5983, 452-0692, or 345-1606, Maynard said.

Accountants get more immunity from lawsuits

Legislation to give public accountants and firms greater immunity from liability lawsuits has been signed by Gov. James Thompson.

A provision cutting in half the amount of liability insurance or bond required from operators of small carnivals is also included in the legislation.

The main portion of the bill bars CPAs or public accounting firms from being held liable for civil damages in lawsuits from third parties on the basis of "acts or omissions" in their professional services.

The accountants could still be held liable, however, if their work included "conduct that constitutes fraud or intentional misrepresentation" or if they knew the primary intent of their client was for the accounting work to be relied on by another party.

Accounting organizations requested the legislation because of their reported difficulty in obtaining insurance coverage to protect them against lawsuits from parties other than their principal client.

A provision helping operators of carnivals at "permanent sites" who have fewer than six amusement rides not more than 8-feet tall, was also added to the bill signed into law by the governor.

It cuts the liability or bond-posting requirement for those operators from $1 million to $500,000.

Operators of several small "kiddie" carnivals and rides in the state had said they were having difficulty obtaining the $1 million level, which they argued was only necessary for operators with bigger thrill rides.

Redmond's response was correct

The "no comment" approach former superintendent Max Redmond took concerning the memo sent by four civic leaders to the District 9 Board of Education was correct.

Because he did not believe all board members would be candid when it came to key questions on hirings, he did not believe it was worth his time to respond.

As noted in yesterday's newspaper, the board's response to the memo included that Redmond "refused to respond." The District 9 Board of Education did not need to include at the end of each answer to the memo that Redmond "refused to respond." One simple statement at the outset would have been sufficient.

But there's little doubt that the repetition served as an attempt to make the former superintendent look bad while satisfying some injured egos.

What occurred in the past remains there, but one wonders if the problems will resurface.

Rather than a united front for new Superintendent Gib Walsley, board member Monroe Worthen began at the outset to be less than encouraging.

Worthen said Walsley should be hired on an interim basis while the board looked elsewhere for a superintendent. Of course, Walsley's application during the search would be considered, Worthen said.

Very thoughtful.

The public would have failed most board members for a lack-luster performance in the last school year.

The board has a fresh opportunity to bring its grades up in this school year, but more of the same activities can only produce more of the same failing marks.

Give crime victims more power

At the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville, plea-bargaining and the granting of probation have become established facts of life. Few cases go to trial, and many convicted crime suspects escape prison sentences.

Crime-victim advocates in Illinois believe the innocent parties victimized by crimes receive insufficient attention in court processes, and have succeeded in obtaining new legislation that is being sent to the governor.

Two key court changes are outlined:

1. Prosecutors for the first time could seek a substitution for the assigned judge. If they believe a judge is too soft on a particular offense or is generally soft on crime, they could automatically have him replaced. But they would have to appoint his successor; no second objection could be made.

Although critics say this proposal is an attempt to intimidate judges, many law enforcement officials view it as fair because defense attorneys already have the right to obtain a different judge. Victims, they contend, ought to have the same rights as defendants.

2. Under limited circumstances, prosecutors could demand a jury trial. It would apply mainly to felony narcotics cases, in which the defense has the right to call for a jury trial.

Jim Finley, chief lobbyist for the Illinois Department of State Police, comments that judges see so many criminals they could become callous to crime, while juries provide a fresh viewpoint as each new panel is selected. Opponents say a jury trial takes about three times as long as a bench trial and could further clog the congested court system.

A third portion of the new legislation provides jury duty exemptions only to members of the press. No longer exempted would be such categories as statewide elected officials, doctors and lawyers, although individuals could still attempt to gain exemption.

The issues are complex and illustrate why it takes a governor much of the summer and early fall to review the thousands of proposed laws forwarded to him. Last-minute changes often have altered the proposals so much that even their sponsors oppose them.

In this case, we tend to side with the victims and support prosecutorial power to seek judge replacements and jury trials.

Ambulance drivers need to be alert

To the editor:
I am writing as a follow-up to my previous letter dated May 12. I recently went to court to fight a traffic citation issued to me for alleged failure to yield to an authorized emergency vehicle. In this case, a Madison area fire department ambulance; the incident gave rise to an accident with extensive damage to my car and some damage to the ambulance.

Sworn witnesses stated that the siren and lights of the ambulance were in continuous use.

Another witness (who was unable to attend the court hearing because she had to attend school) stated in the police report relative to the traffic accident that the siren was only being employed intermittently — a version of the facts consistent with what I know occurred.

This sort of intermittent use of sirens is apparently a frequent occurrence in Madison County.

Section 11-421.3 of the Illinois laws relative to the operation of emergency vehicles states that when an ambulance is conveying sick or injured persons it shall have its siren and lamp in "full operation at all times" during the emergency.

It is important that all drivers of emergency vehicles (whether volunteer or professional) be made aware of all applicable regulations. Whatever the facts are in a given case (or were in my case), it is incumbent upon those who operate emergency medical vehicles to take proper care at all times, for it is not only those whom they may be transporting or rushing to help who are at risk.

Ambulances should be operated within all applicable regulations of course, but that is merely a bare minimum standard of safety.

To the extent possible (and in every case where warning equipment is not fully or continuously engaged), ambulances should be fully at stop signs and be driven at safe speeds (given road conditions, visibility, etc.) especially in residential areas where children or pets may dart unexpectedly into their path.

I have been verbally informed by multiple Granite City Fire Department ambulance drivers (who are full-time professionals) that the Granite City Fire Department attempts at all times to operate its ambulances with the safety of pedestrians and other motorists in mind.

The ambulance driver at my court hearing, however, when asked repeatedly, was unable to recall the speed at which he was driving his ambulance, and certainly did not make much of an effort to stop at the four-way stop in the residential area where the accident occurred.

At my court hearing, the court determined (wrongly in my view and on the basis of incomplete information) that I had failed to yield to an emergency vehicle.

I have paid the fine and put this unfortunate incident behind me. I will continue to work hard and compassionately for the people of this community in delivering the highest quality of medical care I know how to provide.

I am professionally, morally and personally committed to that goal. All of us should approach our jobs with that commitment, especially those charged with the public care and safety.

I do not regret, nor would I change my mind about, opposing the traffic citation I received.

I will always do whatever I can to protect some small child, elderly person, or even a small animal from falling victim to inattention or carelessness by anyone, whether or not he or she is acting in a professional or official capacity.

Readers react

Darlene Strubberg, Granite City

"If a person commits a crime, they should be tried to the full extent of the law and the sentence shouldn't be reduced. The sentence should fit the crime."

Roscoe Martin, Granite City

"Definitely not. Speaking as an ex-policeman, if the crime is great enough for the person to be charged with, they should try them for that crime."

Don Harris, Pontoon Beach area

"I don't believe in plea bargaining. It's saving taxpayers' money at the expense of the public. You have a prosecutor you pay with tax money, and he wants to save tax money by plea bargaining. It doesn't make sense."

Tailgating can be deadly; 2-second rule

To the editor:
Tailgating and failing to slow down soon enough at intersections cause thousands of rear-end collisions in Illinois each year. In 1984, there were 26,489 rear-end collisions when both vehicles were moving and 74,444 rear-end collisions when one vehicle was stopped, according to the Department of Transportation.

Most of those accidents could have been avoided if the drivers had maintained a safe following distance and observed the two-second rule. To use the two-second rule, choose a fixed object along the road ahead, such as a signpost, tree or overpass. When the vehicle ahead passes the object, begin to count, "One thousand one, one thousand two."

The National Safety Council recommends the two-second rule and provides tips to avoid a collision with the vehicle ahead:

1. Increase your following distance to a four or five-second count when road or weather conditions are unfavorable.

2. Watch for turn signals and brake lights; and if the vehicle ahead is drifting to the right or left to prepare for a turn.

3. Get ready to start stopping as soon as you see a vehicle's brake lights or a hazard developing on the road ahead. Delayed braking leads to panic stops and rear-end collisions.

JIM EDGAR, Secretary of State

Seeks help to solve Madison murder

To the editor:
This letter is written by a mother who has lost her son to a society at war. The war is an ongoing thing from year to year. It has gotten more attention in recent months than before, but it has been going on for what seems to be forever to me.

It is a war that has no social boundaries, ethnic barriers or religious preferences. It affects us all.

No answers, no help, just a forgotten story of a young man's death due to drugs? I hope not. I hope that this letter will touch a nerve somewhere and that help will come.

We must find out who has done this and why they are allowed to walk free with no one to answer to.

If there is even the slightest chance that this is the way a young man or woman could end, then we must carry the war many steps farther.

We cannot let this kind of horror go on and on. We must put a stop to the nightmare of unanswered murder.

I plead with you readers to help me to demand to have a case such as this finished. I ask your support and power to fight with me so that my son, like so many others, can rest.

I am Donna Dennis, mother of Blake "Bo" Knox (died Jan. 12, 1985).

I am adding a postscript of events that happened after my son's death. I'm sending this along in the hope that they can be useful.

When we were first told of our son's death, it was said that he committed suicide. We felt very strongly this could not be true. In the past, whenever he was in trouble or troubled, he would call his father or me to help him. So I pursued this matter further.

After many, many calls were made to the Madison police, the funeral home and other officials between January 1985 and July 1985, Paul Bergel of the Madison police met with my daughter-in-law and myself. He said, "I knew from the minute I walked into the house and Yet, for months and months you hope for some kind of justice. Is there nothing you can do but cry and wonder why no one knows anything? Are they so powerful that nothing can touch these people who take the lives of others? Is this the way it must end?

Is this all that there is left behind, a photo and a small piece in the newspaper to say he is gone?

No answers, no help, just a forgotten story of a young man's death due to drugs? I hope not. I hope that this letter will touch a nerve somewhere and that help will come.

After many, many calls were made to the Madison police, the funeral home and other officials between January 1985 and July 1985, Paul Bergel of the Madison police met with my daughter-in-law and myself. He said, "I knew from the minute I walked into the house and saw him. I knew it was not suicide. It was at this meeting that we again requested to please be notified of the date of the inquest. We found out later that it was held, but no family member was told when or where.

It must also be noted that we knew our son was under police surveillance for over a year before his death.

We are sure that if the right people in the department were asked, they would know who his contacts were and also who the many junkies were that came and went to his home.

I truly feel that the facts of this case were suppressed from the very beginning.

Even on the day of his funeral, someone entered his home while it was still under police lockup and three television sets were taken. No arrests were made.

The comment made to his wife and her mother at that time was, "Well, that's the last you will ever see of those television sets."

After this happened, I made calls month after month to the City of Madison, the mayor, police and funeral home in hope of getting some answers.

I would estimate that over 50 calls were made. I have dates and remarks made by these people as written down, so I could keep a good record of the answers I received along with their uncaring remarks about my son's death.

I felt as if I were living some long, bad dream about some place other than America.

This past June, 1986, an article was published in St. Louis. It told of our plight.

Thinking that this might stir up something, I called the Edwardsville state's attorney's office. They said they would get right back with me on this matter or have someone from the DCI (Illinois Department of Criminal Investigation) call me.

As of Aug. 1, I'm still waiting.

City studies incentive pay owed to Madison policemen

By Donna Kimbro
Staff writer

MADISON — East financial obligations continue to plague the City Council.

They surfaced again Tuesday night with requests by Patrolman Donald Bridick for a check from the police incentive plan and by Chris Pashoff, Venice Township supervisor, who said he should have been credited with eight years in the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund several years ago.

Bridick sent a letter to the council requesting payment in accordance with an ordinance relating to police pay incentives for 1985-86. He said he received a check for $300 and the amount should have been $1,536.

Mayor John Beloff said, in response to the request, that he was appointing all aldermen to a committee to be headed by William Gashoff to research records back to 1974 on the subject of incentive pay.

"The committee will meet with me and the city attorney to discuss this problem, and the officers would be entitled to such pay and we are talking about $50,000 to $60,000 that it could cost the city. We must have an answer to give the public on this issue," the mayor said.

"This situation was developed illegally by the past administration and goes back to the 1970s without the city ordinance being changed. I think these men are entitled to the incentive; however, in June of this year the council amended the ordinance to pay $300 a year for completion of an associate college degree in applied police science.

"We may have to go to the taxpayers to pay this and if they (police officers) have to go to court, so be it. Each fellow has a right to it," the mayor said.

The letter was referred to the committee for further study.

Pashoff told the council he has unsuccessfully tried to have eight years of service with the City of Madison added to his 13 years in the Venice Township IMRF. He asked that the council approve this so he can have the years credited for his pension.

"I had to pay $5,000 of my own money to the IMRF before I reached an age where I was ineligible, so this request will not cost the city any money. The council will only have to prepare a resolution and approve it in session," Pashoff said.

"Through the years I have saved the city $600,000 by using township funds to aid purchases needed by the city as well as the township.

"I am the only full-time township supervisor and I have helped in giving money for the street, fire, health and ambulance departments as well as aid to the parks and recreation center. I have saved the taxpayers $200,000 by putting all township offices and employees in one building."

Beloff asked him to meet with Larry Hartman, the city attorney, and give him the figures and facts so a legal document can be prepared to help the supervisor if it is possible.

IN-OFFICE SURGERY

No need to postpone treatment of foot disorders because of concern over time and cost. Minimal incision surgery enables the doctor of podiatric medicine to correct many problems right in the office.

Bunions, bone dislocations, ingrown toenails, hammertoes, corns, deep-rooted calluses, and spurs are among the conditions which can be corrected under local anesthesia. Procedures generally take only 30 to 60 minutes. You walk out of the office that day, resume activities, return to work the next day.

In office podiatric surgery is preferred by insurance carriers because it eliminates hospitalization costs. How can this modern method help correct your foot problems? Ask your podiatrist.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kelley and daughters, Christine and Jennifer, of 5105 Maryville Road, have just returned from Texas, where they spent a week's vacation visiting relatives and seeing the sights. They visited Kelley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James (Dorothy) Kelley, former area residents now living in Dallas.

Also visited were a brother, Mark Kelley, and his family in Ennis, Texas, and also his twin sisters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Marc (Lannis) Hawkins of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Jannis) Abbot and their son, Justin, in Forney, Texas.

The Kelleys toured downtown Dallas and visited the Kennedy Memorial, the old Court House, Reunion Tower and Thanksgiving Square. They also went to "South Park," where the television series Dallas is filmed, touring the house and grounds.

On their return trip, they stopped in Springfield, Mo., and visited Mrs. Kelley's uncle and aunt, Denver and Pat Payne.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Colbert motored to Puxico, Mo., for the weekend. They met their son, Edward, of St. Louis, at the Colbert vacation home. Saturday was spent doing some remodeling. On Sunday they visited Mrs. Colbert's mother, Mrs. Lillian Carver of Puxico, and other friends and relatives.

Chouteau Township Senior Citizens will meet at the township social center, 697 N. Thorngate Drive, this afternoon to complete plans for the coming month's activities. The monthly meeting of the group will be Thursday, Aug. 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Elman (Pearlean) Crites, former Chain of Rocks Road residents, were here last week visiting their sons, Mike, Roger and Rick Crites.

Mrs. Elman Crites and Mrs. Roger Crites and children took a two-day trip to Dover, Tenn., to visit relatives and returned to Mitchell on Friday. The visitors returned to their home in Bloomfield, Mo., over the weekend.

Mrs. Robert (Ikey) Lipscomb of Pontoon Road returned Tuesday from Los Angeles and other parts of California, where she had been visiting since July with her mother and brothers and also her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Jo Elle) Lipscomb.

While she was visiting her son and his wife, they became the parents of a baby girl. She weighed 8 pounds, 4 ounces, and has been named Starla Jo. The mother will be remembered as Jo Elle Pryor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pryor, formerly of Granite City and Mitchell.

James R. Lipscomb, a former local resident and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lipscomb, will be married to Valerie Kay Vaughn in Sioux Falls. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Vaughn of Burke, S.D. The wedding will take place on Aug. 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan (Sandy) Wilson became parents of twin girls on Sunday morning at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. They were named Natasha and Natalie. Natasha only lived 29 minutes.

A private family service will be held for her on Saturday, with the Rev. Ralph Craycraft officiating. Natalie is in Children's Hospital and doing well.

Mrs. Dorothy Watson and daughter, Janet, have returned from a vacation tour of Honolulu and other points of interest in Hawaii.

Several agencies utilize Social Security numbers

Several agencies use the Social Security number for purposes other than Social Security, Oliver Holmes, Social Security manager in East St. Louis, said this week.

The Internal Revenue Service, for example, requires people to show their Social Security number on income tax returns. Also, the Department of Defense has substituted the Social Security number for the military service number for all members of the armed forces.

"Social Security numbers are required for any person who applies for or receives benefits under any federal or federally subsidized program," Holmes said.

"Today, there are comparatively few people who do not need a Social Security number for one purpose or another."

"Among private organizations, there is a growing trend to use the Social Security number in their own numbering system and control records. Such use is neither authorized nor approved by the Social Security Administration. There is no federal law that requires a person to furnish a number to these organizations for such purposes."

"On the other hand, there is no provision against such use of the Social Security number by an organization for its own records if the number is obtained voluntarily from the person. This is a private matter between the organization and the person."

"Any organization considering private use of the number should realize that the Social Security Administration does not verify numbers or names or furnish other information from the records which would involve unauthorized expenditure of Social Security taxes or use of confidential information."

"More information about the use of Social Security numbers can be obtained from our office, located at 550 Missouri Ave. The telephone number is 482-9430, or if this is a long-distance call, dial Operator and ask for Enterprise 1-555."

Barton's defense seeks ban

A judge has taken under advisement motions to bar the use of tape-recorded conversations as evidence against five defendants in an alleged assessment reduction kickback scheme.

The defense contends 15 secretly recorded conversations between lawyer Robert Carter — who was helping authorities — and defendants Gerald Bassett, Merle Bassett and James W. Barton were improperly obtained and thus cannot be used as evidence.

The two-day hearing on those and other motions before Associate Judge Charles V. Romani Jr. concluded Aug. 5 in Edwardsville. Romani allowed special prosecutor Bruce D. Locher and defense lawyers until Aug. 20 to submit any written arguments.

Barton is a former Madison County supervisor of assessments. Gerald Bassett was a Barton assistant and Merle Bassett, a lawyer, is Gerald Bassett's father.

Also charged are Fred Finck, a former member of the county's board of review, and lawyer Robert Quinn.

The defendants are alleged to have been involved in a scheme to exchange assessment reductions for donations to a fund set up to help Barton pay for his defense against earlier, unrelated criminal charges.

The recordings are of telephone and face-to-face conversations in late 1983 and early 1984.

The face-to-face conversations were recorded by a "body wire," a tape recording device Carter carried on his person.

Defense lawyers said state investigators obtained authorization to record three conversations from Circuit Judge John DeLaurenti, by presenting evidence which had been improperly obtained when Jere Juenger, a special agent of the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation, listened in on Nov. 22, 1983, telephone conversation between Carter and Gerald Bassett.

There was no authorization for the eavesdropping, they contended. Subsequent eavesdropping was conducted under federal law after federal authorities entered the investigation in December 1983.

Defense lawyers contend the federal involvement was a ploy to take advantage of the federal eavesdropping law, which is less restrictive than that of the state's.

Testimony during the hearing indicated Juenger and Keith Jensen, then a Madison County assistant state's attorney, were present for almost all of the eavesdropping.

Testimony also indicated Robert Bibby of the DCI provided the "body wire" on the occasions it was used.

J. William Lucco, attorney for

Barton, said it was clear the investigation remained a state operation or "at best, a joint investigation."

State investigators cannot be allowed to evade the Illinois law by obtaining help from federal authorities, Lucco said.

Frederick J. Hess, U.S. attorney for the Southern District of Illinois, testified his office joined the investigation to investigate potential violations of federal laws against mail fraud, wire fraud and misuse of public offices.

He said his office withdrew from the investigation in April 1984 partly because the number of potential offenses "had not risen to the level of a federal case."

During the hearing Aug. 4, Locher argued the defendants had failed to meet their burden of showing any of the eavesdropping to be illegal and said their motions should be dismissed.

In a ruling Aug. 5, Romani denied a motion by Locher that lawyer Ben Allen be disqualified from representing defendants Merle Bassett and Quinn.

Locher said Allen should be disqualified because John Delaney, now an associate in Allen's law firm, was an assistant state's attorney when the investigation began. Romani, however, ruled the situation did not necessarily constitute a conflict of interest.

Half of autos not taking emissions test

During July, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency utilized 14 test stations to check the emissions of 107,809 motor vehicles in the Metro East and Chicago metropolitan areas of Illinois.

Of the vehicles tested, 83,653 passed on their first try (77.6 percent) and 23,112 failed the inspection (21.4 percent), requiring the vehicle owner to repair the vehicle so that it meets emissions standards.

The purpose of the "Air Team" project is to reduce motor vehicle emissions of hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide in areas of the state where air quality standards have not been met.

"A total of 107,809 cars and trucks were tested through July 31, out of 201,323 that were expected to be tested," Frank Sherman, Air Team program manager, said.

"This number was significantly lower than we expected for July, but the numbers are expected to increase during August."

"I urge citizens to utilize the testing stations during the middle of the month, when lines have been shorter, so that they can avoid any inconvenience caused by long lines."

Eleven test stations are open in the metropolitan Chicago area. Four remaining stations there will continue to open throughout the summer, with a station in Downers Grove to be completed in August. All three stations are open in the Metro East area, including one on Chain of Rocks Road north of Illinois III.

Plan would permit 3rd Reagan term

Citing unprecedented approval ratings for President Reagan, Congressman Guy Vander Jagt (R-Mich.), chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee (NRCC), has announced his introduction of an amendment to repeal the 22nd Amendment to the U.S. Constitution to "clear the way for President Reagan to seek a third term and allow Americans to decide how long their President should serve."

"The 22nd Amendment is an insult to American voters who are wise and well-informed," Vander Jagt said. "The interest shown since this initiative began in July has been phenomenal, from the hundreds of phone calls to the cheers of 'four more years' for the President in Dallas, Miami and South Carolina."

"While there are several qualified Republican candidates out there are testing the 1988 waters, there's nothing like the original," Vander Jagt said.

"The question facing the Democratic House leadership is this: will they allow the people to decide?" Vander Jagt said.

"The Democrats control the House agenda and can insure the people are heard before the 90th Congress adjourns."

"We will work hard to bring more Republicans to the 100th Congress in an effort to gain passage of this amendment," he said. "I am asking for petitions to flood the Capitol, and funds to support these efforts."

Vander Jagt, who has chaired the NRCC for 12 years, cited several constitutional amendments which were "passed swiftly by Congress and promptly ratified by the states."

"The average time from proposal to final ratification of constitutional amendments is 617 days or just a little more than one year and eight months."

Of the 26 amendments to the Constitution, nine have been passed by Congress and ratified by the states within a calendar year.

"It is extraordinary, perhaps, that the two amendments that required the longest time for approval were the 22nd Amendment, which limits a President to two terms, and the 16th Amendment, which gave Congress its taxing powers," he said.

Brett M. Scrum, a 1986 graduate of Granite City High School, is attending the United States Air Force Academy Preparatory School in Colorado Springs, Colo. He entered the school on July 15.

Scrum was presented his certificate of selection to attend the preparatory school in June by Air Force Capt. Gwendolyn Childs. The certificate represents a full, one-year scholarship valued at $25,000.

As a student at GCHS, Scrum participated in soccer, student council, varsity club and other activities. He competed against more than 12,000 other top high school students throughout the nation for appointment to the Air Force Academy and is one of about 250 students to be selected to the Air Force Academy Prep School.

The USAF Preparatory School educates, trains, motivates and prepares young men and women for leadership roles as U.S. Air Force officers.

The school also prepared students to compete for an academy appointment by teaching classes in advanced mathematics, English, science and military studies.

The four-year academy program consists of demanding academic, military training, athletic curriculum and moral standards that lead to a bachelor of science degree in one of 23 academic majors and a commission as a second lieutenant in the Regular Air Force.

No bids to build military housing

The Louisville District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, announced here Wednesday that no proposals were received at a bid opening from the private sector to construct 100 family housing units near the St. Louis Area Support Center, Granite City.

"Because no bids were received, there is no chance for the construction to begin this fiscal year," Bob Whistine, public affairs spokesman, said.

"Congress needed to see our package to take action by Sept. 30. Time has run out this year, and it will be up to Congress to address some type of housing proposal for next year or extend the current appropriations."

Proposals had been sought for the 802 Housing Program. The program seeks to involve the private sector in housing development through a rental guarantee program.

These 100 housing units were slated to be built on privately-owned land.

The rental program, authorized under Section 802 of Public Law 98-115 of the 1984 Military Construction Authorization Act, provides a government rental guarantee of up to 97 percent occupancy of the 100 units for a maximum of 15 years.

The Louisville District of the Corps of Engineers was given the mission of developing the criteria and soliciting proposals from the private sector in coordination with the St. Louis Army Support Center Housing Directorate.

No site was picked for the housing, which can be built in either Missouri or Illinois, at a relatively central point in the metropolitan area.

Welcome gift

WALKIE TALKIE radio is presented by Gene Ross, president of the Tri-City Shrine Club, center, to the Granite City Emergency Services and Disaster Agency's Auxiliary Police unit. Accepting the gift are Auxiliary Police Capt. Walter N. Schmidt, right, and Lt. Randy Smith. The presentation took place at the Shrine Club's past presidents' night at the KC Hall. ESDA Coordinator Dick Ervay, a past president of the club, was instrumental in getting the remote radio for the auxiliary unit.

WOMAN INJURED IN CRASH AT NAMEOKI AND GARFIELD
Adeline J. Currie, 29, of 1714 Garfield Ave., was injured in a two-car collision at 5:21 p.m. Aug. 12. Currie was turning left onto Garfield Avenue from Nameoki Road when she pulled in front of an auto driven by Dee Cooley of Pontoon Beach. Cooley's auto then collided with the passenger's side of Currie's car. Currie was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way making a left turn.

RINGS, CREDIT CARD TAKEN
Richard Brown, of 2551 Grand Ave., told police Aug. 12 someone took his wife's $1,000-value wedding rings. The thief also took a credit card of Brown's and used it to charge $118 worth of merchandise at a department store.

WOMAN BOOKED FOR BATTERY
Martha M. Polach, 51, of 2004 12th St. was booked on two counts of battery Aug. 12. She allegedly used a stick to strike Vanita Ollis of 1206 Granite Ave. and also allegedly struck Cindy Ollis with the stick. Polach was released on $104 cash bail.

BURGLAR GETS SNACK CAKES
A burglar entered a Dolly Madison delivery truck, parked at 1509 Madison Ave., Aug. 8 and took $60 worth of snack cakes, it was reported Aug. 12.

GC WOMAN IS INJURED IN CAR-TRACTOR COLLISION
Kathleen L. Gauen, 37, of 2609 E. 28th St. was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center after an auto accident at 1:34 p.m. Aug. 12.

Gauen was northbound on Nameoki Road at Jill Avenue when the rear of her auto was struck by a semi truck driven by Dale L. Fulmer of 1510 Kirkpatrick Homes, authorities were told.

ITEMS TAKEN FROM APARTMENT
Robert Paulin, 2003 Washington Ave., Apt. 2, reported Aug. 10 a burglar entered his apartment and took a .22 caliber pistol, a knife/sword, 30 record albums, assorted tools and $12 in coins.

1 Corinthians 2:5... "That your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God."

It is wisdom to seek God. There is such a great peace that fills us when our spirit believes in Him. If only we could learn to be content with the knowledge of God and not try to fathom all His ways. His ways are far above our ways and past finding out.

It is tragic that in so many cases, an increase in knowledge causes men to forsake God and not draw right to Him.

Paul asks that our faith stand in the power of God and not in the wisdom of men.

A wise man takes good advice. Why not take it? Today.

GRABS GOLD-NECKLACE FROM AROUND MAN'S NECK
Michael Henderson, 64, Salveter St., Venice, reported that he and another man got out of a car to check a flat tire in the 1200 block of Bissell Street, Venice, and the man ripped an 18-inch gold necklace valued at $200 from around his neck. Henderson ran to the Venice police station to report the Aug. 1 incident. Five hours later, Henderson made a second report, saying his wallet containing $120 and personal papers also was missing from his vehicle.

BURGLAR GETS MICROWAVE, JEWELRY AND NAVY MEDALS
A burglar may have used a garden hoe to keep at bay the pet dogs of Tait Varner, 517 S. Fourth St., Venice, whose home was looted Aug. 3, police believe. Varner arrived home, found the front door open and called police. A bedroom had been ransacked and the garden hoe was laying on the bed. The dogs were inside the house. Missing were assorted Navy medals, a diamond wristwatch valued at $800, a microwave oven worth $379, a GE air conditioner valued at $500, a pearl and diamond ring valued at $200, $300 worth of costume jewelry in a wooden box, a gold necklace and earrings set valued at $150, large size and Susan B. GIRL HURT AT LEE PARK
An ambulance was sent to Lee Park in Venice at 8 p.m. Aug. 6 when Shirley Hawshaw, 13, of 1215 Klein St., Venice, fell out of a swing and struck her head. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

CRIMINAL DAMAGE ALLEGED
James F. Foster, 30, of 2808 Edgewood Ave. was charged Aug. 8 with criminal damage to property. He allegedly kicked and punched a car, owned by Cynthia Johnson, of 2804 Edgewood, causing $690 in damage July 28 at 21st and Adams streets.

3 charged in stabbing

GRANITE CITY — Three men were served warrants Aug. 11 in connection with the stabbing Sunday of a Venice man. Neva Ragan, 28, and Ricky Evans, 21, both of 1918 Elizabeth St., Madison, and Jeffrey L. Ruckel, 24, of 2248 Lee Ave. were served warrants charging them with aggravated battery. Bond has been set at $20,000 each.

Police responded to 19th Street and Niedringhaus Avenue Sunday, Aug. 10, to a report by the Granite

City Steel security department of a fight involving four people. When officers arrived, they observed Brad Pennebaker, of 1040 Third St., Venice, lying on his back in the middle of the street in front of 1338-19th St. He was bleeding about the head and from stab wounds to the abdomen and back. Pennebaker was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center by ambulance. He was listed Tuesday in critical but stable condition after undergoing surgery.

GC MAN IS ROBBED BY 3 UNKNOWN ASSAILANTS
Carlton Turner, of the 1900 block of Cleveland Blvd., told police he was walking home from 18th and State streets at 10:50 p.m. Aug. 10 when three unknown men accosted him and removed about $4 from his pants pocket. Turner said the men walked out from a parking lot at Niedringhaus Avenue and Cleveland and struck him in the back several times with an unknown object before taking the money. Turner said the assailants were 16 to 18 years old.

GC MAN INJURED IN CRASH
Gregory Nighobossian of 3412 Lydia Lane was injured at 2:49 p.m. Aug. 9 when his car and another auto, driven by James Gibson of 1907 Harris Ave., Madison, collided at 18th Street and Cleveland Boulevard.

BOY, 16, CHARGED WITH DROPPING PIPE ONTO AUTO
A 16-year-old Granite City youth was charged with criminal damage to an auto after being caught on the roof of Fox Industrial Warehouse, 1100 Niedringhaus Ave., at 5 p.m. Aug. 8.

Calvin Barton of Granite City told police that someone dropped a pipe about 2½ feet long from the warehouse roof onto his parked 1979 auto.

The pipe smashed the windshield, wipers and an air vent on the car and also dented the roof.

Barton and other people were detaining the boy when police arrived. The boy was charged and later was released to his father.

REFRIGERATOR IS STOLEN
A burglar took a refrigerator Aug. 9 from an apartment at 1337 E. 20th St. owned by Gerald Ragen.

PROWLING CHARGE FILED
Two residents alleged finding Rhonda K. Graham, 23, of 1504 Kirkpatrick Homes, lying on the ground near a residence in the 2000 block of Sherman Avenue at 12:30 a.m. Saturday. The woman was charged with prowling and was released after posting $52 bail.

FOOD COMMODITIES STOLEN INCLUDE BUTTER, CHEESE

Louise Papa, secretary at the Venice Township office, told Madison police July 24 that one case of butter and two cases of cheese, received by the township for a commodity distribution to the needy, were found to be missing.

She said delivery of the food products was made the day before at Engelbert Hall in Madison and the following morning, just before the public arrived, the theft was discovered.

MIRROR DAMAGED ON VAN
Bill McMurry, 2003 Garfield Ave., said Aug. 9 a vandal broke the outside rear-view mirror of his van.

WOMAN STRUCK IN FACE
Lois Hoffman, 2124 Delmar Ave., told police Aug. 10 a man struck her in the face with his fist. She was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

BURGLAR OBTAINS VCR
Tony Mays, 601 W. Third St., Madison, discovered a screen from his kitchen window laying on the ground when he returned from work July 31. Missing from the home was a video cassette recorder.

MAN ARRESTED FOR HITTING GIRL, 15, AND WOMAN HERE

Frank L. Hollenbeck, 27, of Granite City, was booked on two counts of battery at 5:40 a.m. Saturday.

Kathy Winters, 2414 E. 24th St., alleged Hollenbeck came to her house and began arguing with a 15-year-old girl there. He allegedly threw the girl from a chair and slapped her in the face and head. When she tried to help the girl, Hollenbeck allegedly pushed Winters, struck her and pulled her hair. He was arrested at the Winters' residence.

TWO DRIVERS INJURED IN CRASH AT E. 23RD, KATE
William M. Corrigan, 76, of 2829 Warren Ave. and Shameen A. Ahmed, 16, of 2319 Cleveland Blvd. were both taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center following an auto accident at 8:18 p.m. Aug. 11.

Corrigan was eastbound on E. 23rd Street, turning left onto Kate Street, when his auto collided with Ahmed's car. Corrigan was charged with failing to yield the right-of-way.

SEVEN TRAFFIC TICKETS ISSUED AFTER GC CHASE

Five charges of disobeying a stop sign or traffic control device were issued at 3:15 a.m. Aug. 9 against Rodney B. Grossius, 23, of 2027 Cleveland Blvd. who also was charged with fleeing or attempting to elude police and driving a vehicle without lights.

An officer alleged seeing Grossius drive south on Cleveland Boulevard and pass a stop sign at 25th Street. The officer followed the car and alleged the driver failed to stop at four other intersections and turned off his headlights when red and blue lights on the squad car were activated.

Grossius was arrested when he pulled into a driveway at 2027 Cleveland.

CROSSING LIGHTS GONE

Four lights valued at $72 were stolen from a railroad crossing gate at 25th Street, it was reported Aug. 8 by a railroad employee.

MOWER TAKEN FROM GARAGE

Edna Houlls of 206 Harrison St., near Madison, told Madison County authorities Aug. 10 a burglar entered her garage and took a riding lawnmower valued at $1,599.

MAN UNHURT WHEN HIS CAR HITS TRAIN AT CROSSING

Mark A. Presley, 37, of 14 Del Rio Drive was not injured when his car collided with a Union Pacific railroad engine at 12:12 p.m. Aug. 7. Presley was driving west on Pontoon Road and was unable to stop his car in time to avoid hitting another auto stopped for the train. Presley swerved and skidded into the oncoming locomotive.

Purses, necklaces grabbed by youths

Seven recent incidents of purses or necklaces being grabbed from women being investigated by the Madison police department.

A boy on a 10-speed bicycle pedaled past Dorothy Hinkle, 203 Thirteenth St., as she was leaving the Reese Drug Store at 304 Madison Ave., Madison, and snatched her purse at 8:32 p.m. July 28. She lost $5 cash and various papers.

Kimberly Webb of 84 Garesche Homes, Madison, reported she was standing in the 900 block of Jackson Street, West Madison, when a man approached, struck her in the face and took her purse with $7 cash and papers. He ran from the area.

Tammy Jo Jordan, 1729 Edison Ave., was on the corner of Washington Avenue and Race Street when a man came up behind her, placed a wooden stick across her throat and took her purse with $6 and papers inside.

The man was 20 to 25 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches tall, with a goatee beard. His clothing included a blue hat.

A young man tried to grab the purse of Julia DeTunzio, of 830 Alton Ave., Madison, while she was standing on the corner of Eighth Street and Madison Avenue. He pulled her onto the White's Auto Sales lot but she held onto the purse strap. He fled west on Eighth street.

He was 16 to 20 years old, 5-7 in height, with a slim build and red shaggy hair.

Angie Parris of 1426 Second St., Madison, and Debbie Webb of 1436 Second St. were walking at Second Street and Washington Avenue at 10:30 p.m. July 27 when four male youths followed them and one grabbed two necklaces from Parris' neck. The four fled on foot.

All four wore shorts and two also wore hats.

Genevieve Hill of Illinois 2033, Madison, was getting into her car, parked in the 1500 block of Third Street, Madison, at 9:26 p.m. July 29 when a boy about 15 to 16 years old approached her and grabbed her purse. When the strap broke, the youth threw a rock at the victim and then fled.

He was about 5-6 in height. His attire included a dark cap and pants. Medora Garrett of 1321 Oriole St., Venice, told police at 10:28 p.m. July 29 she was at the Farm Fresh Store at Third Street and Madison Avenue, Madison, when a youth on a dirt bike grabbed her purse. A motorist followed the boy and recovered the purse but the youth escaped.

WATCH AND TOOLBOX TAKEN

William Hart reported Aug. 11 a burglar entered his home on Madison Avenue and took a wristwatch and a toolbox containing assorted tools. Value of the missing items is $2,800.

BURGLAR TAKES CAR RADIO
A burglar took an in-dashboard AM-FM cassette radio Aug. 11 from a car owned by Tim Welch, parked in the 2300 block of E. 20th Street. Value of the radio is $40.

DUMPMSTER IS MISSING

A commercial dumpster, owned by Allied Disposal Co., St. Louis, was stolen from 12th Street and Meadland Avenue, it was reported Aug. 8.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Recently a man contacted this office and indicated that his mother had died. At the time of her death, there was a will providing that her property be divided equally among her three sons. She owned a home valued at $60,000, two Certificates of Deposit with each having a value of approximately $20,000, a car, and miscellaneous furniture at the time of her death. The question arose as to how the property should be divided at the time of her death.

In this particular case, the mother had intended her children to divide the property equally. However, she had made certain children joint tenants with regard to certain pieces of property. For instance, at the time of her husband's death, she had established a joint tenancy with her oldest son on her residence. Her middle son was named as a joint tenant on the two Certificates of Deposit while the youngest son's name was not included with regard to any of the assets.

Subsequent to the time the woman created these joint tenancies, she had her will prepared indicating that all assets should be divided equally. It was obviously her intent to treat all children the same with regard to property division at the time of her death. However, when she established joint tenancies with certain of the children, she really defeated her purpose expressed in her will. Generally speaking, joint tenancy property passes outside the will. If a person creates a joint tenancy, the surviving joint tenant will take the asset in its entirety when the first joint tenant dies.

With regard to this particular case, this meant that her car and the furniture would be divided equally among the three children since these assets were not in joint tenancy. The house would pass to the oldest son as the surviving joint tenant, and the Certificates of Deposit would pass to the middle son in the same manner. Of course, the children could agree among themselves to divide the assets equally if they so desired.

However, the oldest son and the middle son would not be obligated to divide the joint tenancy assets equally if they were not so inclined. By establishing this joint tenancy, the mother ensured that the surviving joint tenant would take the asset at the time of her death. Unfortunately, this result probably did not coincide with her real intention as expressed in the will.

GC man pleads guilty to kidnapping, robbery

By Bill Bagby
Staff Writer

BLOOMINGTON — A Granite City man has pleaded guilty to charges of armed robbery and aggravated kidnapping in the abduction and robbery of a Mountain Home, Ark., couple in May.

George S. Marshall, 22, of 4225 Illinois 162 pleaded guilty Monday, Aug. 11, before McLean County Circuit Judge James Knecht, a court clerk said. A pre-sentencing investigation has been ordered.

A SECOND COUNT each of armed robbery and aggravated kidnapping, and additional charges of unlawful possession of a firearm by a felon and unlawful use of a weapon were dropped by Knecht on a motion by the state's attorney, the clerk said.

Marshall could be sentenced to up to six to 20 years in prison, the clerk said. He is being held in the McLean County jail in Bloomington on $250,000 bond.

Armed with a shotgun, Marshall allegedly confronted George Mabey, 64, and his wife, Edith, 63, at about 10 a.m. May 18. The couple had stopped at a rest area on Interstate 55 south of Bloomington, authorities said.

MARSHALL allegedly entered Mabey's car with the couple and drove a short distance before robbing them of approximately $300 and abandoning them, police said.

He also allegedly pointed the gun at Mabey, causing Mabey to struggle and the gun to discharge.

Marshall returned to the rest area in Mabey's auto and fled in his own car, authorities said.

MABEY ALERTED police, who spotted Marshall's car and chased it until it struck a van in Springfield, 60 miles southwest of Bloomington.

Four passengers in the van who were injured at the time of the collision have recovered.

BATTERY TAKEN FROM CAR

County traffic deaths down sharply

Motor vehicle occupant deaths for July totaled 58 statewide, down 23.6 percent from the five-year average of 89 deaths, according to the Illinois Department of Transportation and State Police.

Madison County had two July fatalities (eight in July 1985) and 17 in the past seven months (39 in January-July 1985).

Overall Illinois fatalities for the month totaled 118 as a result of 111 accidents. This is a decrease of 20.8 percent from the 149 in July 1985.

Included in the July 1986 total were 13 pedestrians killed in 13 accidents, 37 persons killed in 36 accidents involving motorcycles, no bicyclists killed, and two persons killed in two railroad crossing accidents.

The total of 794 fatalities for seven months of 1986 is a decrease of 5.5 percent from 840 in 1985.

Sentenced in burglary of Woolworth's store

Robert L. Banks, 32, of St. Louis pleaded guilty and was sentenced July 1 on a burglary charge.

Madison County Circuit Judge Charles Chapman sentenced Banks to 2½ years of probation and ordered him to pay $95 court costs.

The charge was filed Nov. 13, 1985, after Granite City police arrested Banks and another St. Louis man in an alley between Edison Avenue and State Street for the burglary of the Woolworth store at 19th Street and Edison Avenue.

Police confiscated a tire iron used to pry open an overhead door to gain entry to the store. When officers searched the alley after the arrest, they found a gold necklace.

Cocaine: Danger in disguise

By Dr. Craig Showalter
Martha Washington
Hospital, Chicago

Cocaine is reminiscent of the popular tale about a wolf disguised in sheep's clothing.

The drug's benign, non-addictive reputation over the last 20 years has spread rapidly — as has its use by almost every strata of society.

The "cocaine wolf," however, recently bared itself in the highly-publicized deaths of Maryland basketball star Len Bias and Cleveland Browns defensive back Don Rogers. Indeed, cocaine is a beast of which we should all be very afraid.

Cocaine is a central nervous system stimulant, with physical effects ranging from irritation of the nose to sudden death from cardiac arrest.

An acute feeling of pleasure, self-confidence and power are the initial psychological results of cocaine use, and the reason why an estimated 20 to 24 million Americans have snorted, smoked or injected the drug.

At first, the side effects may seem minimal to non-existent. But the euphoric qualities reinforce the cocaine user's need for more.

In fact, psychological studies on animals show that those using cocaine will ignore food, water, sleep and other basic sustaining life substances when given instead the choice for unlimited amounts of cocaine.

Simply put, cocaine is one of the most highly addictive drugs ever. Its hold is on the human psyche.

But prolonged, heavy cocaine use wreaks havoc upon both human emotions and physical health.

Here's what happens:
• Anxiety, agitation and nausea are common. Often the cocaine user is unable to sleep. Paranoia replaces euphoria. Grandiose self-confidence flees; depression takes its place.

• The eyes are affected by "snowlight" flashes, as cocaine exerts its impact on the retina and optic nerves. Pupils are dilated and more sensitive to light.

• Tactile hallucinations can occur. These "coke bug" perceptions frequently present the illusion of something crawling under the skin. Some heavy cocaine users have developed actual skin ulcers from trying to dig out the imaginary parasites.

• Blood pressure, respiratory rate and body temperature increase. The heart works up to 50 percent faster than its normal resting state. The potential for an irregular heartbeat followed by cardiac arrest with high cocaine dosages is very real. Weight loss occurs.

There is no easy way to quit cocaine, but the only way to avoid certain self-destruction is to quit before the "wolf" consumes its victim.

For those trying to break the chain of this dangerous addiction, or for families and friends trying to help, a few guidelines are in order.

1. Stopping cocaine use fast and safely is critical. Professional substance abuse programs providing strong medical oversight are the most effective in treating cocaine.

2. Cocaine users must not only vow to abandon the drug, but also the environment of their addiction, including friends and social situations which encourage cocaine use.

3. Families and friends wanting to help a cocaine user who will not acknowledge addiction can consider using the "intervention" technique. A full-scale catastrophe occurs.

"Interventions" must be conducted under the guidance and supervision of a substance abuse professional. This group confrontation is not aimed at accusing or judging the cocaine addict. It is, rather, a demonstration of concern by those close to the cocaine abuser — for the purpose of encouraging quick, effective treatment.

4. Emotional support is available for family members through groups such as Coke Aid and Families Anonymous, even if the cocaine abuser is unwilling to accept treatment.

Help is available for cocaine abusers. The Illinois Department of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse has a "Coke Hotline" number for information on cocaine dependency treatment resources and self-help groups.

In Illinois, call 1-800-445-COKE. Outside Illinois, call 1-800-662-HELP.

Long-term care needs of older women

Findings and recommendations regarding the needs of the state's older women were announced this month by the Task Force on the Status of Older Women in Illinois.

Accepted by Illinois Department on Aging Director James S. Ottwell and the Illinois Council on Aging, the report will now be submitted to the governor and General Assembly for possible administrative or legislative action.

At the suggestion of Ottwell, the task force was formed last November by the Illinois Council on Aging, the advisory body to the Illinois Department on Aging. The 22 members were asked to examine major concerns which make it difficult to grow older as a woman than as a man, and to develop ways to address the housing, income and health care needs of older women.

"The needs of older women deserve particular attention for a number of reasons," said Ottwell. "First, women represent 61 percent of our 65-plus population."

"In addition, women are more likely than men to live in or near poverty; there are more women with low incomes who live alone; women are less likely to have adequate Social Security and pension benefits; more women have inadequate housing and health care needs; and women are more likely to be caregivers for older parents and spouses," she said.

Before developing recommendations that could address these differences, the task force held 23 hearings — roundtable sessions and speakouts around the state to hear testimony from service providers as well as older women themselves. Needs were examined from the viewpoint of single, married, widowed, rural, urban and minority older women.

According to the chairwoman of the task force, Sister Julia Huiskamp of East St. Louis, the major recommendations can be summarized as follows:

1. Because many older women do not know where to begin when they need help and support, more attention should be given to the promotion and coordination of the Senior Assistance Network in Illinois. Older people themselves, as well as family caregivers and community and church groups that are a part of the natural helping network, are available and how to access them.

2. Because many people do not realize that older women have special concerns, there is a need for increased public awareness of older women's issues, especially those relating to income, health care, housing and caregiving.

3. Because more women live alone and more face the risk of having inadequate living arrangements, more housing options should be made available to them, such as congregate and shared housing arrangements. Also, those persons living in elderly housing should be linked with available services in the community.

4. Because more women live at or near poverty level, efforts should be made to help increase the available income of low-income, elderly women, this would involve efforts to encourage eligible older women to apply for Supplemental Security Income.

5. Because older women frequently have lower incomes due to inadequate pension benefits, the state should work with the private sector to expand pension laws to shorten the maximum vesting times and to provide for pension portability, meaning a pension can be carried from job-to-job.

6. Because women are more likely than men to have intensive health care needs, options should be developed for paying for long-term care, whether it be care in their homes or nursing homes.

7. Because women frequently need care for a longer period of time than men, federal programs should be more responsive to older women's needs. Advocacy groups, including the state, should encourage doctors to accept Medicare assignment, should urge that Medicare coverage be broadened to include eye care, dental care and hearing aids, and should push for reduction of Medicare deductibles.

8. Because women represent three-fourths of the abused older population, there should be an expansion of the network of protective services.

"We realize there are some relatively simple, concrete things that can be done by the private sector and state and federal governments, and by the natural helping network, such as church groups, adult children of older women," said Huiskamp. "We have tried to develop recommendations that, if accepted and implemented, will make the lives of older women in our state happier and more secure," she said.

Ottwell added that the Department on Aging and Illinois Council on Aging have agreed to begin implementing some of the ideas by working with appropriate groups and offices, including the Older Women's League and major women's groups, the American Association of Retired Persons, the Illinois Housing Development Authority, the Department of Insurance and the Social Security Administration.

"In addition, we have developed a video presentation that highlights the findings and recommendations of the task force. The Council on Aging will present the 25-minute program at community workshops designed to increase awareness of the needs of older women. It will also be available to interested advocacy groups and organizations."

New laws aid veterans, allows holiday

A package of three new laws is intended to benefit veterans, including establishing an advisory council on atomic radiation and dioxin poisoning and designating March 29 as an annual commemorative holiday honoring Vietnam veterans.

"The wounds, both emotional and physical, of the war in Vietnam stand ready to help both those who survived the battles of southeast Asia and the families of those who did not," Gov. James R. Thompson said.

"The Atomic Radiation and Dioxin Poisoning Victims Advisory Council will address some of the physical problems facing veterans. The holiday will help us better remember and understand what went on two decades ago."

"Illinois has not forgotten the men and women who served our nation so bravely and selflessly in previous wars and in times of peace. Their service in defense of all the citizens of this country has earned veterans our gratitude — gratitude which must be expressed in concern for their well-being and needs."

Thompson's remarks were made at the luncheon he hosts at the Executive Mansion each year in connection with Veterans' Day at the State Fair.

The 10-member council will act as liaison to the Agent Orange Assistance Foundation and will process the claims of Illinois victims of dioxin poisoning. The federal government has agreed to a $150 million fund to settle the claims of veterans in litigation involving Agent Orange product liability.

Commemorative holidays are regular school days during which teachers and students devote a portion of the day to study and honor the nation or occasion which is the subject of the holiday.

Sponsors included Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, and Rep. Ron Stephens, R-Caseyville.

Another law established the Illinois Veterans Home Fund for the deposit of any income tax rebate or check-off funds. It also provides for the acceptance of unsolicited private donations.

The law makes changes in other income tax check-offs, permitting interest earned on funds in the Child Abuse Prevention Fund to be retained in the fund; providing unsolicited public and private donations for food and shelter assistance can be deposited in the Illinois Food and Housing Assistance Fund; and directing donations intended for Alzheimer's Disease research go to the Alzheimer's Disease Research Fund.

Another new law reduces the days of service by an honorably discharged veteran during a period of hostilities from 30 days to one day as an admission criterion at the Quincy Veterans Home, and from 90 days to one day as an admission criterion at the Manteno Veterans Home.

Wolf announces new Medicaid laws

Illinois will be better equipped to deal with persons engaged in Medicaid fraud with the signing this week of five bills supported by State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City.

"Taxpayers currently foot the bill for one million poor people in Illinois."

"They receive Medicaid benefits to pay the doctor and medical bills," Wolf explained. "Although it is right that we help our neighbors, it is also right to protect hard-working taxpayers from abuses in the program."

"The measures signed by the governor provide a package of new laws to give law enforcement officials the backing they need to crack down on deception, fraud and abuse of the Medicaid program."

The laws going into effect on Jan. 1, 1987, will:

• Allow the Department of Registration and Education to immediately suspend the license of a medical professional who provides substandard care to a Medicaid recipient.

• Give the Department of Public Aid permission to assign a Medicaid recipient to a single doctor or pharmacy, thereby preventing a person who has abused the program from shopping around for a doctor or pharmacy who will hand out the desired drugs.

• Let the Department of Public

Aid bar an individual medical provider from any future participation in Medicaid. It provides penalties for those who hide behind a corporate structure to defraud the state.

• Make the use of telephones, computer tapes and the mail to defraud Medicaid a Class 4 felony, punishable with one to three years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

"Our aim is to provide medical care to the truly needy, while at the same time preventing those who would cheat the system from doing so," Wolf said.

"Taxpayers will be the winners if this legislation is successful in combatting Medicaid fraud."

Style show set for Nov. 8 at Charlie's Restaurant

The second annual Harvest Champagne Luncheon and Style Show is being planned for Saturday, Nov. 8, at Charlie's Restaurant to begin at 11:30 a.m.

A planning session of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Organization, the sponsoring group, was conducted last week in the home of Hazel Rollins, 4281 Reville Lane, chairman of the fund-raising project.

Tickets for the luncheon and show will be limited and will not be sold at the door. They may be purchased from any BPW member in advance. Prizes will be given throughout the event.

A book will be compiled by Becky Slate and printed by Lil Marzuff and patron solicitation will be under the direction of Van Stuart. Linda Irwin was assigned to print the tickets.

Others attending the meeting were Helene Bischoff, Ramona Burnett, Sandra Ashcraft, Lisa Fanning, Stuart and Slate.

Granite City BPW to meet Aug. 20

The Aug. 20 dinner meeting of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Organization will be held at 6:30 p.m. at Charlie's Restaurant.

Hazel Rollins, finance chairman, and her committee will be in charge of the program that will spotlight the federation focus issue of "Pay Equity."

Guest speaker will be Leslie McClure, who will speak on the issue. She has been employed at the Granite City Division of National Steel Corp. for seven years as the coordinator for human resources.

Her responsibilities include the administration of the Equal Employment Opportunity program, Career Development Systems coordinator, in addition to Human Resources Systems coordinator. She also is a certified instructor for the Blessing-White Managing Personal Growth Program at the local plant.

McClure previously worked at Blue Cross-Blue Shield in the Personnel Division, where she performed the same functions. She is working toward a bachelor degree at Washington University in industrial and organizational psychology.

A member of the board of directors of the Madison County Urban League, she also is a member of the St. Louis Equal Employment Opportunity organization.

She is married and the mother of two sons and is a Granite City resident.

Becky Slate, president of the group, will preside at the session. Reservations can be made by calling Rollins at 931-1243 or Slate at 452-5391.

Mr. and Mrs. Buell Whitten

Mr. and Mrs. Whitten mark 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Buell O. Whitten of Madison celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on July 16. A quiet celebration was held at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Logan of Granite City.

Mr. Whitten and the former Bernice E. Harrison were married in Fillmore, Ill., on July 16, 1936. He retired as an engineer in 1978 from the Norfolk & Western Railway, where he worked for 36 years. They have two grandchildren, Brian Weiss of Dallas, Texas, and Pamela Weiss of Granite City, and one great-granddaughter, Summer Lynn of Dallas.

Airman and Mrs. Jimmy Stuart
Stuart-Dawson

Michelle Renee Dawson and Jimmy Kevin Stuart were married July 5 at Nameoki United Methodist Church by the Rev. Jerry Reed.

The bride is the daughter of John A. Dawson Jr., Columbia, Maine, and Penny K. Elwell of Honolulu, Hawaii. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy E. (Mary) Stuart of Granite City.

The maid of honor was Jennifer Pahl of Belleville. The best man was Jay O'Brist of Centralia.

The flower girl was Dea Elwell, a sister of the bride. Ushers were Kevin Hazelip of Alton, Dan Duryea of Blytheville, Ark., and Charlie Yarber of Granite City.

A reception was held at the Nameoki United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will be residing at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

The bride is a graduate of Granite City High School.

The groom, a 1984 graduate of Granite City High School, also attended the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College for two years. He is an airman in the U.S. Air Force.

Lisa Cleaton

Cleaton-Edmunds

Lisa Cleaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cleaton of Granite City, and Ryan Edmunds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmunds of Spain, have announced their engagement.

Cleaton is a 1982 graduate of Granite City High School North. She is serving in the United States Air Force, stationed in West Berlin, Germany. Edmunds is also in the Air Force, stationed in Las Vegas, Nev.

Seeks address of former classmate

Glenda Johnson, 1901 Olive St., Highland, Ill., is seeking the address of a former classmate, Janet Ferguson Maddox, who formerly lived on 27th Place, Granite City.

Johnson said they attended Granite City High School together during 1959-59. Maddox had an older sister, Judy, and a younger brother, Edward.

Johnson asks anyone knowing of her friend to contact her by mail or call 654-4257.

Earns MS degree

Maryville College in St. Louis has announced that Norma L. Keller of Granite City received a master of science degree in management during Maryville's 113th commencement ceremony in May.

HIGH LIVING
Hardening of the arteries is the result of high living, says Dr. John Houston, Director of Cardiology, Milwaukee County Hospital. Other civilizations are less susceptible to the disease because they burn up more energy thru exercise and physical work. Dr. Houston blamed animal fats, smoking and alcohol, along with lack of proper exercise. The natural effect of cigarette nicotine is to contract the arteries. Alcohol increases the appetite, encouraging overeating, a direct cause of cardio-vascular diseases, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holmes Holmes-Neubauer

Suzette Marie Neubauer and Frank R. Holmes were married June 21 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church by Father William Fisherkeller at a 2 p.m. nuptial mass.

The bride is the daughter of Emil and Maryanne Neubauer and the groom is the son of Frank and Toni Holmes, all of Granite City.

Organist for the ceremony was Christopher Orf, with soloists Brenda Soboleski and David Ressler.

Maid of honor was Amy Johnston, cousin of the bride, and matron of honor was Beth Chiappa of Granite City.

The bridesmaids included Linda Knobloch, Twyla Juehne, Elizabeth Patkos, Diana Prazma, the groom's sister, and Pam Roberts.

Best man was Dave Leet and groomsmen were Rick Fancher, Joe Ward, Bob Hiob, Mark Cotter, Bud Prazma, a brother-in-law of the groom, and Gene Smart.

The ringbearer was Buddy Prazma, nephew of the groom.

Ushers were Eric Johnston and Mike Ziolkowski, both cousins of the bride, and Jeff Cotter, the groom's cousin.

Attending the guest book was Kim DeGonia, the groom's cousin. A reception was held at Engelbert Hall in the evening.

The bride is a 1979 graduate of Granite City High School South and a 1984 graduate of SIUE, where she earned a dual degree in special education and elementary education with a minor in theater. For the past two years, she was employed by the Mid-State Special School District, assigned to the Pana, Ill., School District.

She is a former member of the SIUE Dance Company and served five years as choreographer for the Highland High School Swing Choir. The groom is a 1976 graduate of Granite City High School South and holds a degree in earth science from SIUE and an associate degree in computer science from Florissant Valley Community College. He is employed by Brown Group Inc. of Clayton as an operations analyst.

After a honeymoon trip to the Hawaiian Islands, the couple is now residing in Granite City.

Director of budget honored

Illinois Bell, CWA reach agreement

Dr. Robert L. Mandeville, 55, director of the Illinois Bureau of the Budget, is one of five state officials chosen to receive an award for distinguished service from the National Governors' Association (NGA).

An Illinois native, he joined the Bureau of the Budget in 1969 and served as assistant director. He left the Bureau in 1973 to become deputy controller and served in that role until his appointment as bureau director in January 1977. He worked for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration from 1962 to 1969; worked in advanced design for Martin-Marietta from 1961 to 1962; and performed administrative duties on federal missile contracts at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. from 1956 to 1961.

He received a bachelor's degree in mathematics and a master's degree in business administration from St. Louis University and in 1969, a doctorate of business administration from George Washington University.

Mandeville is one of five state officials and five private citizens selected to receive the NGA award at the NGA's annual meeting on Aug. 24 at Hilton Head Island, S.C. The awards program, in its 10th year, is the first nationwide effort to recognize distinguished service to state government.

Mandeville's "diligent, dawn-to-midnight professional administrative efforts" are credited with making Illinois the first state to have a single accounting system for all its agencies, including universities.

The Illinois Constitution of 1970 and the Comptroller Act of 1972 had set a mid-1974 deadline for implementing a uniform system to account for every tax dollar, and Mandeville's expertise and persistence permitted the state to begin operation of the system on schedule, officials said.

Illinois Bell has reached a tentative agreement with the Communications Workers of America on a 3-year contract calling for a 2.5 percent wage increase and a ratification bonus.

Of the 2,300 CWA members in Illinois, 400 are in Granite City, Belleville and East St. Louis; parts of the district that also includes Alton, Wood River, Edwardsville, and Collinsville.

There are 600 hourly employees in the district. This includes 200 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, which already has approved a new contract with Illinois Bell.

The CWA plans to take the agreement back to its members for ratification, with a deadline of Sept. 12, said Dick Hull, spokesman for Illinois Bell.

"It's excellent news," Hill said, adding that if the contract is ratified, "this completes our labor negotiations for this year."

Negotiators for both sides reached the agreement in two hours Sunday afternoon, said Sharon Craig, spokeswoman for the union.

"It covers Illinois Bell only," she said. "Other states are still talking in the (Chicago-based) Ameritech region."

Unlike other Bell companies, Ameritech and the union were working state-by-state in their negotiations, rather than regionally.

The contract also features modification of a profit-sharing plan to give workers more of the profit, up to a lump-sum payment of 2 percent of each employee's yearly pay, Hull said.

The proposal was patterned after a three-year Illinois Bell contract recently ratified by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, the company said.

No White Castle planned for GC

GRANITE CITY — Those famous "belly boppers" won't be coming to Granite City.

Rumors that a White Castle restaurant will be located here are false, a company spokesman said. "I heard that rumor Sunday," said Lilie Dunn, supervisor of White Castle's St. Louis office.

The company has no immediate plans to build any new restaurants in the St. Louis area, Dunn said.

She said the company is primarily concerned with the Kansas City market, where several White Castle restaurants are slated to be built.

FOR RECIPES from your hometown kitchens, nothing beats the new recipe book produced by the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

Cocktails and hors d'oeuvres ala chamber women's division

By Jack C. Ventimiglia

GRANITE CITY — Blackout cocktails, phoenix dip, and rumaki are more than 200 community favorites recently organized into a new recipe book.

Cocktails and Hors D'Oeuvres, a product of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, contains recipes for 54 kinds of beverages, 23 tempting cheeseballs, 40 different dips, 28 varieties of finger foods, and 79 recipes for hors d'oeuvres.

More than 500 recipes were submitted, but less than half could be used, said division member Bev Partney.

"The idea for the book was on everyone's mind, but Partney said the work was initiated by Betty Dietrich, women's division president."

Copies of the book can be purchased for $3 at the chamber office, 1831 Delmar Ave.

The following recipes are contained in the recipe book:

Blackout cocktail

Ingredients:

1 1/2 oz. dry gin

1/4 oz. blackberry brandy

Juice of 1/2 lime

Directions:

Shake with ice, then strain into a cocktail glass.

Phoenix dip

Ingredients:

1 can artichoke hearts

1 cup parmesan cheese

1 cup mayonnaise

Directions:

Squeeze all of the water out of the artichoke hearts. Mix with other ingredients. Bake at 350° until bubbly. Serve with crackers.

Rumaki

Ingredients:

1 cup soy sauce

1/2 cup packed brown sugar

1/2 tsp. ground ginger

12-15 slices of bacon

1/2 pound of chicken livers

1 can (8 oz.) water chestnuts, drained and halved

Microwave directions:

Mix soy sauce, brown sugar and ginger in a square baking dish, 8x8 inches. Cut bacon slices and chicken livers into halves. Wrap a piece of chicken liver and a water chestnut in each piece of bacon (together they are rumaki), then secure with a wooden pick. Place in marinade.

Cover and refrigerate for 2 hours, then drain.

Place the rumaki on a double layer of paper towels around the outer edge of carousal or on baking sheet lined with paper towels. Microwave on high (100 %) for 5 minutes. Reduce power to medium high (70 %).

Microwave until bacon is evenly browned, 12 to 18 minutes. If using a non-carousal oven, rotate baking sheet a quarter turn every 3 to 5 minutes.

Crisis in grain storage in state

U.S. Sen. Alan J. Dixon has called on the U.S. Department of Agriculture to convene an emergency task force to deal with the grain storage crisis in Illinois and the Midwest.

In a hand-delivered letter to Agriculture Sec. Richard Lyng, Dixon characterized the storage shortage as a "catastrophe" and asked him to form a task force devoted solely to the storage crisis, with a mandate to report back to him in a matter of days.

"The task force must come forth with a plan for storage that would be both practical and effective," Dixon said.

Credit union will expand membership

Shirley Yates, president of Processor-Industrial Credit Union, 2269 State St., Granite City, has announced that the credit union will take advantage of Illinois House Bill 328 signed into law last September and extend its field of membership to all residents of Venice, Madison, Granite City, Mitchell and Pontoon Beach.

Processors was originally chartered in April 1938 to serve employees of Union Stock & Killing Co. The original and continuing purpose is to provide a place for working people to save and borrow, she said. Original bylaws limited member savings to 25 cents per payday with a maximum accumulation of $500 and the loan limit was set at $50.

The original credit union merged with Industrial Credit Union in 1983, resulting in a financial institution with more than 3,600 members and assets of more than $6 million.

Credit unions have traditionally served specific employee groups or parishes but there have been some that served all residents of small communities, she said. House Bill 328 removed the population restrictions and Processor-Industrial has received final approval from the Department of Financial Institutions to extend its services.

Credit unions are owned by the members and their deposits are known as shares. The credit union currently offers regular shares (savings), share drafts (check-like accounts), certificates, individual retirement accounts, and other services. The next services to be introduced will be VISA cards and automated teller access.

Phil Curry (Curry & Associates) of Edwardsville has been engaged by the credit union to assist in the transition from an employee-owned institution to one that will offer financial services to the five areas.

Processors-Industrial is controlled by a board of volunteers elected from and by the members, with day-to-day operations handled by Mrs. Yates and a staff of seven full-time employees. Deposits are insured up to $100,000 by the National Credit Union Association.

Community service award will be given

The Chamber of Commerce began accepting nominations in July for an annual award to be named the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Community Service Award.

It is to be presented by the Community Betterment Committee at the Chamber's annual installation dinner meeting in October. It is the intent that the award will be recognized as the most prestigious honor a person can receive from the local chamber.

The award will recognize a person who has long served the community, or an individual who has in some way improved the quality of life in this area.

The individual can be nominated by a sponsoring organization or by an individual. A nomination application must be completed for the person to be considered.

Application forms can be obtained from the Chamber of Commerce of the Tri-Cities Area, Granite City, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The committee is accepting completed applications, with a deadline of Sept. 1.

The campaign against the incumbent Governor.

Illinois pays a high price for the Thompson brand of politics — the broken promises and lies, the media hype, the slogans, the enrichment of insiders and special interests, the big-spending and self-indulgence, the arrogance and incompetence.

But I will distinguish between the politician and his politics, and run against the record, not the man. It will be a grassroots campaign to throw the rascals out, clean up the mess, and give the people a chance. Under Thompson, Illinois has fallen to a position of the nation's "laggard."

I want Illinois to lead the way. This campaign will offer an indictment of the past, as well as an agenda for the future.

Thompson has given Illinois "the best government money can buy." He put the government up for sale to the highest bidder.

Thompson's campaign finance report is a 400-page encyclopedia of influence-peddling and gray-flannel graft.

Virtually everyone who seeks to do business with the state, or is regulated by the state, sends the governor a check. We'll be outspent many times over, but we'll win — because the people have had enough. The people want a government they can trust, and they know how to split a ticket.

Stevenson cites 'economic stagnation'

By Adlai Stevenson

On Aug. 4 I filed 75,000 signatures on petitions to run as a third-party candidate for governor, three times the number required.

The race resumes. The issue is no longer where I will be on the ballot, but where Illinois will be in the future.

Will it be four more years of incompetence and corruption? Or can we change what we can trust for a change?

I made the announcement in a news conference at our Chicago headquarters, accompanied by Michael Howlett Jr., my running-mate candidate for lieutenant governor, and Jane Spargel, candidate for secretary of state.

The three of us then went to Springfield, where the petitions were filed with the Illinois Board of Elections. A news conference at Cahokia in the Metro East area also was held.

We did what was right. I had resigned the Democratic gubernatorial nomination I won in the March 18 primary when candidates backed by political extremist Lyndon LaRouche won the spots for lieutenant governor and secretary of state.

We have isolated the LaRouche-sponsored imposters on the Democratic ticket. We did what skeptics said we could not do. We gathered more than three times the (25,000) necessary signatures. Democrats, Republicans and independents have signed.

The petition drive, conducted in less than a month, means that the names of Stevenson, Howlett and Spargel will appear on the Nov. 4 election ballot under the Illinois Solidarity Party label, along with nominal candidates for other statewide offices. I am thankful to political figures and good citizens for making the petition drive a success.

The people of Illinois want an alternative to four more years of stagnation in our politics and stagnation in our economics.

Illinois loses jobs faster than all but three states (Iowa, West Virginia and Wyoming), and pays the highest utility costs and highest local taxes in the Midwest.

A generation is fleeing Illinois for other states.

My promise is as simple as good government. I will make state government a dynamic instrument of public good, service in state government an exciting calling, and politics a moral process by which the people convert their values to their policies.

I will spell out my plans for Illinois, but they all boil down to that simple idea. I will make decisions for the simple reason that they are right. I will reward merit and not campaign contributions.

We will trust the people with the truth. We will not run a personal cam-

Some teachers start at less than $13,000

At a time of national public support for raising teacher salaries, there remains a huge gap between rhetoric and reality in some parts of the country.

Some members of the public believe teachers should earn an average of $20,700, according to a June Gallup poll. Though the starting pay in Granite City is higher, at $14,896, many of the nation's school districts pay first-year teachers less than $13,000 a year.

"The public obviously sees the link between attracting excellent people into the profession and teacher salaries," said National Education Association President Mary Hatwood Futrell. "That's a connection more state legislatures and school districts need to make."

Last year in Idaho the three largest districts in the state all started beginning teachers under $13,000. In Boise, teachers began at $12,584; in Meridian, $12,285; and in Pocatello, $12,584.

The lowest paid teacher in the nation, from Grass Lake, N.D., last year earned $7,520. The teacher has since left the district, but the county superintendent of schools is hoping to fill the position this fall for the same salary.

Other examples:

- The school districts of Wolsey, Rutland, and Burke in S.D. all had beginning salaries of $12,200 for the 1985-86 school year. And this fall in Salem, South Shore, and Belle Fourche districts, new teachers will earn $12,600.

- New teachers in West Rutland, Vt. this fall will earn $12,575. Their colleagues in Washington school district will be paid $11,925.

- In rural Dunfermline, Ill., the B.A. minimum is $12,150. After 13 years on the job, Dunfermline teachers earn $14,650. Martinsville, Ill., last year paid new teachers $13,000, and teachers with 16 years of experience were eligible to earn $19,000.

- In Louisiana the East Carroll, LaSalle, and Madison Parish school systems all paid beginning teachers $12,171 in 1985-86. The three districts offered teachers a maximum of $15,453 after 10 years service.

- The Springfield, Colo. school district starts teachers at $12,000. They top out at $21,450.

- Some 37 school districts in Iowa reported beginning B.A. degree base salaries of less than $13,000 last year. The Grand Valley Community School District in Kellerton, for example, paid a base of $11,800 and a maximum of $14,575.

- At least 50 school districts in Missouri reported starting salaries under $13,000 for 1985-86. A new law that goes into effect this fall will peg starting salaries at a minimum of $15,000.

- In Georgia, the Grady School District starts a teacher at $11,814. After six years, the salary maximum is $12,314.

- In Grant County, W.V., the beginning salary this year will be $12,255. With a MA degree and 20 years experience, teachers can earn $24,544.

This fall, beginning teachers in Unity and Allenstown, N.H., will earn $12,800.

- In Michigan, which boasts some of the nation's highest teacher salaries, there are low starting wages. In Wells Township, the beginning teacher salary is $12,899, and after 11 years a person with a bachelor's degree is topped out at $18,600.

- In the United States last year, the average salary for a teacher with 15 years experience was $23,546.

A new design

AT OPERATION CATAPULT: David Maxwell, sitting, of Granite City, works on an electrical engineering project during Operation Catapult, a summer program in engineering and science at Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology in Terre Haute, Ind. Maxwell was among 78 academically talented high school students invited to the three-week program. The students work directly with Rose-Hulman professors such as Keith Hoover, an engineering, associate professor of electrical engineering, on various projects including the one pictured, which resulted in a new design for an electronic scoring system for pinewood derby racing. Maxwell, a senior at Granite City High School, is the son of Robert and Jean Maxwell, 2533 Westmoreland Drive.

Summer stroll

GETTING SET for fall: Students enjoy a walk across campus between classes at SIUE. Registration for the fall quarter is now through Friday and Sept. 15-20. Registration is by appointment only. Open registration for September Option classes is Aug. 25. September Option classes meet Monday through Friday for two hours, beginning Aug. 25 and extending through Sept. 19. Fall quarter begins with Week End University classes, Saturday, Sept. 20.

Schools changing to serve diverse population's needs

Educational planners don't need a crystal ball to predict what issues and challenges lie ahead for the public schools.

Demographical data on the growth of minority populations, the flow of immigrants to the U.S. and changes in family structure make it clear that tomorrow's schools will be serving a much more racially and ethnically diverse population.

That's the theme of a new report, "A Look at the Present," released by the National Education Association. In the report, author Harold L.

Hodgkinson, a scholar-in-residence at the American Council on Education, highlights the demographic and social trends that he believes will significantly affect America's educational system. For example:

- Birth rates for minority groups are significantly higher than for whites. For Mexican-Americans, the birth rate is 2.9, for Blacks 2.4, while the rate for whites is 1.7 — and declining for middle-class whites.

As a result of this disparity in birth rates, schools in many parts of the country will be dealing with larger percentages of minority students. In 1984, Hodgkinson said, more than 46 percent of all public school students are non-white. In California, the majority of elementary school students are non-white.

- The number of teenagers giving birth is on the rise. In 1984, 200,000 infants were born to teenagers, 10,000 of them born to mothers under age 15. Every day in this country 40 teenagers give birth to their third child.

In addition, these teen mothers — many of them dropouts themselves — produce a very high rate of premature babies with low birth weights, a factor that research has linked to learning difficulties later in life.

- There are 14 million immigrants in the United States today, representing more linguistic and cultural diversity than this country has ever experienced.

Tutor helps 5 learn to read

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

Most readers take for granted the ability to read a newspaper or a letter from friends.

Some people can understand a name on a sign and figure out the amount on a bill, but their capabilities as readers come to a sudden stop at that point.

ANNA CLAGGETT of Venice has a keen interest in this problem, a subject that falls under the umbrella word — literacy. Furthermore, she is doing something about it.

The mother of four is helping five people who have some basic reading skills but need to know more. Even more important, they all want to learn.

"It's hard for some people to say 'I need help,' but when they do say it, I want to help them," said Claggett.

"I WISH I could give more time to this worthwhile project," she said. "Time is in short supply around the Claggett residence, however."

Beside having two teenage daughters living at home, Claggett is a full-time student at Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus, studying medical technology. She also is president of the Venice Park Board, a role increasingly demanding in scope since the community's water slide opened in Lee Park.

RECORD-SETTING participation in the park's summer recreation program for Venice children, plus a multitude of related duties, add to her busy daily schedule.

"Everybody has a different reason for wanting to learn to read or to improve reading skills," Claggett said.

Some older people want to improve their reading ability so they can enjoy the Bible or better understand a letter or a newspaper, she said.

ALL THE PEOPLE I'm helping can read a little, but they need to be better and they want to know more.

Authorities estimate one of five American adults, including 2 million Illinoisans, are unable to read above the sixth-grade level.

Claggett's reading group meets at New Salem Baptist Church, Venice, where she is an active member.

I HAVE FIVE (people) altogether, but I am actively working with four people. Their ages are from 26 to in their 60s," she said.

She and her students have received encouragement from the Rev. John Henry Williams, New Salem pastor.

But the program is not limited to church members.

Claggett became interested in tutoring non-readers through "Project Read," an adult literacy program through which volunteer tutors are trained.

SHE COMPLETED a 20-hour workshop and was presented a BAC tutoring certificate in June.

"It takes a lot of patience, but it is something I really want to do," the park board president said.

"I never had the chance to do a lot of things in my life and I decided I am going to do the things I missed."

"FOR INSTANCE," Claggett said, "I'd never learned to swim so I decided to learn this year and I did it. I just wish my schedule would give me more time to work in the reading program," she added.

A newcomer to Venice politics, Claggett won a seat on the Venice Board of Park Commissioners in April 1985.

She succeeded John Henry Williams as board president in April.

BORN IN VENICE and a lifetime resident of the community, she was formerly employed as a laboratory technician at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, and St. Elizabeth Medical Center before returning to her college studies on a full-time basis.

Claggett graduated in 1961 from Madison High School. She also is a graduate of Gradyville Medical Technology School in St. Louis and has completed continuing education courses at St. Louis University.

She has a daughter, Tina Louise Claggett, 17, and three sons, Charles Edward Claggett, 23, Carvel Duane Claggett, 22, and Erwin Cranston Claggett, 13. She also has a granddaughter, Cierra Claggett.

Illiteracy fought by ABS, PBS

For the millions of Americans who cannot read a street sign, a warning label, or a job application, illiteracy is a terrible personal tragedy.

For the nation, the cost of illiteracy runs to tens of billions of dollars a year in unemployment, crime, welfare and substandard job performance. Federal studies estimate that as many as 23 million adult Americans (3.2 million in Missouri and Illinois) are functionally illiterate. Another 35 million are classified as semiliterate, and the numbers are growing.

In a historic collaboration, PBS (KETC, Channel 9) and ABC (KTIV, Channel 2) are joining forces to combat America's hidden problem. The two broadcasting systems have launched Project Literacy U.S., an unprecedented public awareness/community outreach campaign to help fight adult illiteracy.

The PLUS project is being conducted in two phases — outreach development and on-air programming to raise awareness. Outreach or coordinated community action is already under way with the Missouri Coalition for Adult Literacy convening a PLUS task force and steering committee made up of individuals working on literacy. They represent social service organizations, business, education and religion.

On-air programming will be launched on Sept. 8 at 9 p.m. with the ABC documentary "At a Loss for Words: Illiterate in America" narrated by Peter Jennings.

The documentary will be followed by a myriad of programming on ABC and PBS: "This Week With David Brinkley" (Sept. 7), ABC's "World News Tonight" with Peter Jennings' (multi-part reports Sept. 8-12), PBS's documentary "A Chance to Learn" followed by Channel 9's special "Project Literacy: A Call to Action" (Sept. 17, 8-10 p.m.), "ABC News Nightline," and "20/20." Channel 9 will telecast the G.E.D. high school equivalency series beginning in October.

Both PBS and ABC are already telecasting public service announcements and will continue to do so for the remainder of the year.

Outreach development is preceding awareness-raising as it is crucial to the PLUS strategy that community resources are mobilized and in place to help adult learners when the demand increases in September.

To that end, 81 national organizations are supporting PLUS by publicizing the project and establishing it as a priority for their members across the country.

In the Metro East and St. Louis areas, PLUS task force members are working on volunteer recruitment, program research and development, business and industry support, resource compilation, and promotion and advertising.

Letters about PLUS have been sent to 2,000 educators, social service organizations, religious leaders, and community and business leaders. The task force is asking for their help in providing additional teaching sites and volunteer tutors, publicizing PLUS to their members and employees, and recruitment of students.

The Missouri and Illinois literacy hotlines will be publicized extensively so that those that need help and want help and those who are able to help will know where to turn.

Michael Hardgrove, KETC president and general manager, said, "Community action is integral to the project's success. We saw what happened with 'The Chemical People' when television and outreach were combined to bring the teenage drug and alcohol problem to the forefront. The response was enormous and 'The Chemical People' task forces are still operating three years later. PLUS has the potential for equal success."

Vic Skaggs, community affairs manager at KTIV, said, "There may be only one way to reach adult non-readers — through television. With the size of the Channel 2's audience, it's our hope we can touch the adult illiterate and spur them to action to make a change in their lives."

Diana Schmidt, director of the Missouri Coalition for Adult Literacy, said, "I think PLUS will be a tremendous boost to the literacy movement in two important ways. First, it will make potential volunteers aware of the problem's enormity and second, it will remove some of the stigma associated with illiteracy, enabling more adult non-readers to reach out for help."

Information about literacy programs in the area can be obtained by calling the Illinois Literacy Hotline at 1-800-321-4511.

Project draws parents into children's teaching

"When parents get involved with their children's education, it sets a tone for success."

That's a comment from one of the many parents across the country who are participating in the unique Teacher-Parent Partnership program sponsored by the National Education Association and the Home and School Institute.

The project, which has already reached the families of 12,000 students nationwide, will be expanded to sites in at least 10 additional states this fall.

The NEA Teacher-Parent Partnership project aims to strengthen ties between home and school and actively draw parents into their children's learning. The project was designed for the contemporary American family that may have a working mother or a single parent as its head.

"Most parents want to get involved in their children's education, but they may not be sure how to do it," says an NEA spokesperson. "That's why we look on this project. We wanted to give parents some practical suggestions to help make what their children are learning in school relevant to everyday life."

Exploitation of student athletes denounced by group

The nation's largest teachers' organization has denounced a national scandal of growing proportions: the exploitation of student athletes.

More than 7,500 delegates to the summer annual meeting of the National Education Association directed NEA President Mary Hatwood Futrell to correspond directly to all college and university presidents, as well as to the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics, about the use, abuse and exploitation of student athletes.

The NEA action comes after the cocaine poisoning death of athletes during the summer. But members emphasize that the problem is not confined to college athletics.

"The exploitation of student athletes begins much earlier at the elementary and secondary school level," said Futrell. "What happens in some colleges and university athletic programs is simply the culmination of years of abuse of putting athletics above all else in a student's academic and personal career."

The NEA will be developing strategies to deal with the issues of drug and chemical abuse and the failure of institutions to provide adequate career, academic and personal counseling services to student athletes.

Fighting back

Recovery from accident leads to new life for GC man

Football fun
is on horizon

The mail arrived the other day. It's an everyday occurrence at the office that is followed by a lot of sorting and sometimes a filling up of File 15.

But on this day the mail brought a large packet from the Illinois High School Association. The IHSA is gearing up for the school year, and enclosed was the master football schedule for the 1986 season.

With the first day of practice scheduled for Monday, the sound of pads meeting pads isn't too far away.

Fall practices are not much fun. Usually, the temperature hovers around the high 90's, and the conditioning drills are somewhat tedious. Then comes the dreaded two-a-days, and things are compounded.

The season officially will get underway on Sept. 5 and will run until Nov. 29, when the Class 6A state championship game will be played at Hancock Stadium at Illinois State University in Normal.

This year, 568 schools will field football teams, one less than in 1985. Four new conferences have been formed (Prairie League, Southern Illini, West Suburban — Gold and West Suburban — Silver).

At Granite City, Ron Yates begins his third year as head coach. He has a career record of 7-8. The Warriors will open with two home games, against Cahokia and Normandy (Mo.), Sept. 5 and Sept. 12. Granite City's other home games will be against East St. Louis (Oct. 4) and Springfield Griffin (Oct. 17).

Defending 6A state champion East St. Louis, the holder of the state's current longest winning streak (46 games), will open the season at Busch Stadium against Soudan High School of St. Louis on Sept. 6.

With the streak at 40, the Flyers are chasing Pittsfield, holder of Illinois' all-time record for consecutive wins in football. The Indians won 64 straight from 1966 to 1973. The national high school mark is 72 set by Jefferson City (Mo.).

Coach Bob Shannon will begin his 11th season at East Side. He has a career mark of 95-10.

Perhaps the cruelest scheduling quirk this year finds Collinsville playing East Side at Parsons Field on Halloween on the season's final week. The Kahoks are 0-18 over the last two years.

"Trick or treat..."

At Madison, the Trojans will be looking to build on last year's 6-2 record, one of the best in the school's history.

A loss in the final game to Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis knocked the Trojans out of the playoffs. Head coach Don Smith begins his fourth season at the helm. He is 12-13 overall.

Odds and Ends

●The latest IHSA football record book is out and Granite City placekicker Ryan Weeks has etched his name in it.

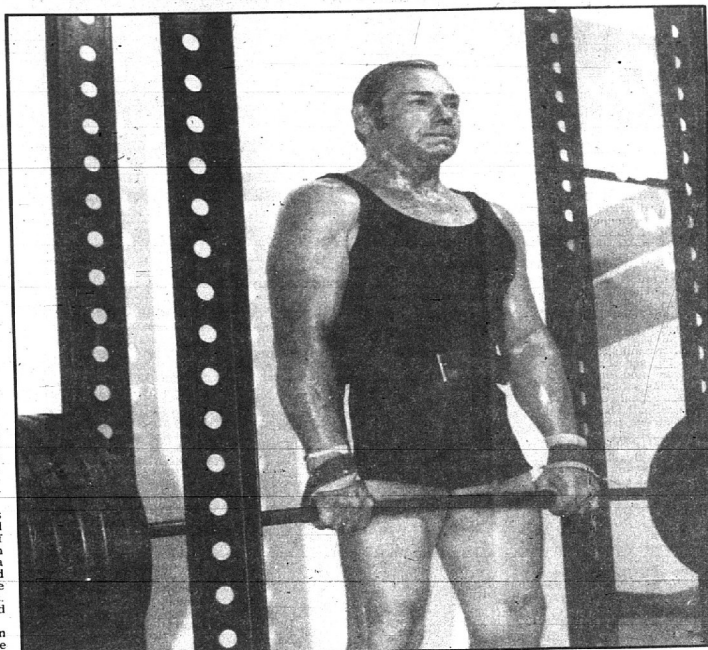

Weeks, who will be a freshman at Tennessee Tech this fall, boomed a 47-yard field goal last year against Cahokia. The effort is the sixth longest in state history...Daren DePew, a former kicker from Granite City North, once held the record of 54 yards, set in 1981 against Wood River. Currently, Phil Moore's boot of 55 yards is tops in the state. Moore played for Wilmette (Loyola).

●This one deals with basketball. Advance tickets for the "Superfan Spectacular" basketball showcase at SIUE's Vadalabene Center on Jan. 31 can be purchased from participating schools. All seats are reserved at a cost of $4 each. Both Madison and Venice will be among the schools participating.

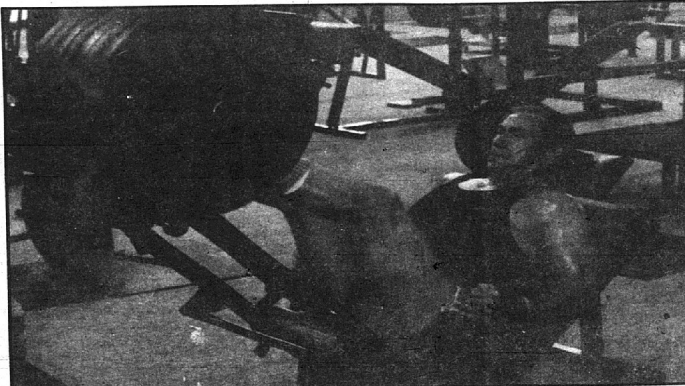

●Russ Chappell, the Granite City High School golf coach, is a recipient of the 1986 National Federation of Interscholastic Officials Association service award. Chappell, who officiates basketball, has worked in three state final tournaments (1972-AA, 1973-AA and 1975-AA). He is one of 11 officials honored this year.

Though final pairings weren't yet complete at press time, the Granite City Park District's annual tennis tournament looks to be another exciting one. There are four age groups for boys singles and one for girls. The boys also have two age groups for doubles.

There are also men's and women's singles, as well as men's and women's 35 and over singles. Fast champions returning for the tournament, which starts Friday and ends Sunday, include Mike Barnes, Carolyn Siegel, Alan Farmer, Carrie Weckham and Brad Mossman.

MAURICE MINKS puts his all into a powerlift at Powerhouse Health Club in Collinsville.

WEIGHTLIFTING also means work for the legs for the 60-year-old Minks.

Gray to pitch at Greenville College

By Gregg Ochoa

Executive Sports Editor

Erric Gray, one of the more consistent pitchers at Granite City High School in recent years, will play for Greenville College.

A three-year variety letterman, Gray was 5-1 for the Warriors last year with an ERA of 2.04 — tops on the team. He only allowed 13 earned runs all year.

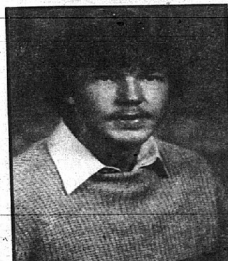

Gray, a Press-Record Athlete of the Month in April, joins Pat Cathey, a 1985 graduate of GCHS, on the Greenville baseball team.

"I believe Erric has the potential to make a significant contribution to our baseball program over the next four years," said Greenville coach Dave Altopp.

Last season, Gray was a second team All-Southwestern Conference selection. During the recent American Legion season, Gray was 5-1 for Tri-City with an ERA of 2.63. For his efforts, he was named to North Division squad in the District 22 All-Star game played July 30 at Citizens Park in Belleville.

As a senior, Gray pitched 41 innings, struck out 22 and walked just four batters. He averaged 3.7 strikeouts per game.

His only loss of the season came against East St. Louis in the regional semifinals. He was brought in to relieve starter Scott LeVault.

Two of Gray's first three wins as a senior were shutouts. He fired a one-hitter against Belleville West and held Alton to just two infield hits.

At 6-1, 180 pounds, Gray relies on control more often than a blazing fastball. In over 115 innings pitched, he walked just 18 batters in his high school career. His strikeout-to-walk ratio was 5-1, one of the

For many people, retirement signals the beginning of a relaxed and easy life.

But for Maurice Minks, retirement provided the starting point of a routine as demanding as any employer's, and comparable to any Olympic hopeful's.

That's because Minks is an Olympic hopeful. A nine-time medal winner in the Southwestern Illinois Senior Olympics, Minks now has his sights set on much stiffer competition in the coming months, including the first national Senior Olympics, scheduled for July 1987 in St. Louis.

By the time Minks, 60, reports to his part-time position as a parking garage attendant at St. Elizabeth Medical Center each afternoon, he has already put in 2½ hours on a weight machine at Powerhouse Health Club in Collinsville and an hour or more of practice with the shot put and discus at SIUE. When he leaves SEMC at 7 p.m., Minks still has two or three miles to run near his home before closing out his day.

"I do it because I like it," the fitness enthusiast said. But it's not only what he does that makes Minks noteworthy. It's what he has had to overcome in order to be in the top physical condition he works to stay in today.

Four years ago, it was doubtful Minks would ever be able to raise his left arm again. A motorcycle accident in 1982 left him with extensive neck and shoulder injuries, necessitating a shoulder operation and therapy to correct his whiplash.

Two years later, he retired from Granite City Steel, where he had been a pipefitter for 37 years. It was then that he became determined to achieve what he most wanted: To be fit.

"You wouldn't have believed what I looked like two years

"My desire and discipline of mind is what keeps me going. Sometimes I push myself like a young person. But I don't ever want to be out of shape."

ago," he said. "Physically, I was a basket case. I was down in the pits."

He began running and set up a four-year weight training program to rebuild the upper body strength lost in the accident. "There are a lot of things in life that aren't what you would like to have," he said. "But you just have to accept them and go on from there."

But accepting a disability has never been a consideration for Minks. His daily workouts are testimony to his strong will, as well as body.

"I wanted to develop a strength base that would last me the rest of my life," he said.

One look at his firm and lean 6-0, 200-pound frame is evidence that he is well on his way. A self-designed training program, according to Minks, gives attention not only to physical fitness, but nutrition as well.

"Food intake is one of the most essential things in life," he said.

He watches what he eats, and has five or six small meals a day.

"That way, I never have a full stomach, and I'm not sluggish," he said.

All of this attention to his health is the least he can do for himself.

"I could have been paralyzed or killed (by the accident)," he said. "I owe it to myself to do these things."

Although he lifts weights for strength and runs because he has found he is good at it, the field events are his favorites. Minks throws the shot put over 40 feet and the discus over 100 feet. Although he played a lot of sandlot baseball and football as a youth in Madison and was a high-average bowler during his working years, he had never thrown either the shot or the discus before his fitness "rebirth" after retirement.

"I learned it on my own," he said.

Now, after two years of steady training, Minks feels he has the strength and power to compete with his age group in larger Senior Olympic games and do well. He will be participating in the Illinois Senior Olympics in Springfield in September.

"My desire and discipline of mind is what keeps me going," Minks said. "Sometimes I push myself like a young person. But I don't ever want to be out of shape. I think too many senior citizens are intimidated to go into the weight rooms and work

Second in state

Tickets on sale for Hall of Fame Classic; ESL Flyers featured

Organizers of the inaugural St. Louis Sports Hall of Fame Classic have announced that tickets for the prep football classic featuring the East St. Louis Sept. are now on sale.

The Flyers, Illinois Class 6A champions the past three years, will put their 40-game winning streak on the line against Soldan High School of St. Louis in the nightcap of the classic Sept. 6 at Busch Stadium, a 7:45 p.m. game. In the first game, Hazelwood Central of St. Louis will face Belleville West at 5 p.m.

The tickets are $3 for adults, $2 for high school students, $1 for children ages 6-14, and free for children 5 and under. Tickets are available at the St. Louis Baseball Cardinals ticket office during normal business hours, or by calling Busch Stadium at 314-241-6180. Tickets are also available by calling Ticketmaster at 314-421-4617 or Dialfax at 314-241-1400.

East St. Louis finished the 1985 season by defeating Brother Rice of Chicago 46-0 in the Class 6A championship game. The Flyers were the top-ranked team in the country last season, according to USA Today. In 1986, coach Bob Shannon will have a veteran team under his direction, headlined by pre-season All-America running back Kerwin Price, who quarterbacked the team last year.

Under coach Arthur Davis, Soldan finished the 1985 campaign with a 7-4 record, losing only to East St. Louis, Jefferson City and twice to Sumner, including a defeat in the first round of the Missouri State High School playoffs.

Hazelwood Central will be attempting to repeat its perfect 1985 season and return to the Missouri State High School Class 6A championship game for the third straight season. They won the title last year and finished second in 1984. Hawks coach John Hotfelder will also field a veteran team, with his biggest challenge being the replacement of prep All-America Tony Van Zant, who was recruited successfully by the University of Missouri.

Belleville West finished the 1985 season with a 7-4 record, their final loss of the season coming in the second round of the state playoffs. The Maroons are fellow members of the Southwestern Conference with East St. Louis.

The Hall of Fame Classic is being sponsored by the St. Louis Sports Hall of Fame, Busch Stadium and the Suburban Newspapers of Greater St. Louis.

Instructional football camp is this fall

The Granite City Park District is offering a non-contact instructional football camp in the fall. Instruction will be provided by a seven-member staff that includes professional athletes and retired educators Keith Parker, John Tonoff and Dick Yates.

They, in conjunction with Don Harris, Pat Harris, Eric Robertson and Larry Curry will work to create a camp that promotes recreation and sportsmanship. Games, drills and activities will stress proper technique for executing basic football skills, exercise, agility and speed.

Granite City High School head football coach Ron Yates will function as an advisor. Yates has planned special activities for the camp participants with the varsity football players.

The camp starts Sept. 6, and will continue for eight consecutive Saturday mornings. Fourth and fifth grade students are invited to attend the 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. session. Sixth and seventh grade students are asked to attend the 10:30 a.m. to noon session.

Registration will begin Aug. 4 and remain open through the camp. Participants are not required to attend all eight sessions.

The camp is designed to develop football skills not emphasized in league play. The instruction will include controlled team play; however, equipment, such as helmets and shoulder pads will not be a requirement.

For additional information, contact Dave Price, recreation supervisor, at 877-3059.

Paddlers plans swimming party

Paddlers Swim Club will hold its annual Adult Party on Aug. 22 from 6 p.m. until midnight.

A poolside dinner will be served, catered by Jerry Roderick. Music will be provided by the Vixler Corp. Various dance contests will also be held throughout the evening.

Tickets are $12.50 or $25 per couple.

Attend camp

THE GRANITE CITY HIGH SCHOOL cheerleaders attended the 1986 National Cheerleaders Association camp at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau, Mo., Aug. 4-8. The camp, the third largest NCA camp in the country, was attended by 900 cheerleaders from five states. The Granite City cheerleaders were accompanied by their sponsor, Barbara Varadian. Those attending were: Elaine Brown, Anne Juhasz, Michelle Parra, LeaAnn Kinney, Beth Scherrills, Jamie Bucatch, Ann Jarrett and Christy Thouenot.

Elks kickers dominate at Lincolnfest tourney

Two soccer teams sponsored by the Granite City Elks managed to bring home first place trophies at the recent Lincolnfest Soccer Tournament in Springfield, Ill.

Six local teams sponsored by the Elks won 18 of 21 matches. The 14-year-old girls, coached by Ed Hagnauer, and the 14-year-old boys, coached by Jim McKechnan, finished first in their respective divisions.

A second place trophy was collected by the 12-year-old boys team coached by Lesko Seales. They lost to a team from Peoria in the final round.

The 13-year-old boys, coached by Ruben Mendoza, and the 16-year-old boys, coached by John Prazma, both went through the preliminary rounds undefeated (each 3-0), but missed opportunities to advance to the championship round due to a complicated point system. The Granite City Elks currently sponsor 10 teams ranging in age from 6 to 16.

Minks

out. But it's important for them to do it. I see too many people my age who sit on the porch and watch life go by. I want to do things, to succeed in something. I want to age gracefully."

But that graceful aging required more than physical stamina for Minks. He knew he needed something more than exercise to fill his days.

"There were a lot of loose ends after I retired," he said. "A nurse friend of mine suggested that I get involved at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. I began volunteering in the patient transport and security departments a year and a half ago. I met some wonderful people there. And with all of my loose ends, the hospital became something I was tied to. It's almost like family for me."

"Now that I'm working part-time, I meet a lot of people every day. It's been good for me to see them smiling when they leave work, or to try to get them to smile."

Minks has an understanding of life that has come with age. "Everybody needs to find something worthwhile in life, something that gives their life meaning," he said. "When you're used to working all your life, you can't just quit when you retire."

You have to have something meaningful that you want to do. Otherwise, you get stagnant and old.

"No one's life is perfect. Life is 50/50. But you have to be content with what you have."

That contentment is obvious to anyone who has talked with Minks, in the gym or at SEMC. "I've done all the things people do in their lives," he said. "My life isn't exciting, but I'm satisfied with it. My work with weights is letting me accomplish what I want. Retirement is giving me the time to do what I want. This may sound corny, but I am at peace with myself."

What more could anyone, young or retired, hope for?

Volleyball starts Aug. 18

Girls wishing to play volleyball at Granite City High School this fall are being informed to pick up permission slips at the high school office.

The slips should be picked up before the first practice, which is scheduled for 6 p.m. Aug. 18.

Don Deterding, the Warriors' boys basketball coach, will be starting his first season as the varsity volleyball coach.

Baker among coaches at clinic

A free high school-level soccer clinic, sponsored by the U.S. Army in cooperation with the National Soccer Coaches Association of America, will be held at 8:30 a.m. Aug. 23 at Parkway Central High School.

The clinic is designed for high school players and coaches and will be staffed by soccer clinicians chosen by the NSCAA. The following soccer experts are scheduled to appear at Parkway Central High School:

- Walt Chyzowych, former U.S. Olympic and National Team coach.
- Bob Gansler, former National Youth Team coach, coach at University of Wisconsin.

- Rick Benben, coach of the Kansas City Comets.
- Tony Kuster, coach at Forest Park Community College.
- Pat McBride, coach of the St. Louis Steamers.
- Dennis Vaninger, coach of the Kutis Soccer Club.
- Jim Bokern, coach of the Kutis Soccer Club.
- Lonnie Folks, coach at Maryville College.
- Gene Baker, coach at Granite City High School.
- Carl Gentile, coach of the Busch Soccer Club.
- Scott Reame, coach at Maryville College.
- Bill Davies, coach at Washington University.

- Tom Howe, coach at St. Louis University.
- Eric Delabar, coach at Bush College.
- John Schnieder, coach at Bush College.
- Debbie Kehm, coach at Lindenwood College.
- Joe Carenza, coach at Washington University.

The clinic will include sessions on basic soccer skills, goalkeeping, group tactics and team tactics. For coaches, there will be instruction on teaching the basic skills and developing team tactics. Call (212) 708-6249 collect.

Soccer team needs players

A new soccer team is being formed in Granite City for boys born in 1973.

Tryouts will be held on Thursday, Aug. 14, at 6:30 p.m., and Saturday, Aug. 16, at 8 a.m. at the St. Elizabeth soccer field. For additional information, call Vince Serum at 482-2149 or Gary O'Neill at 931-6168.

Moonlight Ramble is Sunday morning

The Moonlight Ramble, the world's largest night time bicycling event, will attract 13,000 to 15,000 bicycle riders for a twilight tour of St. Louis, Sunday morning, Aug. 17, beginning at 2 a.m.

Sponsored by the Ozark Area Council of American Youth Hostels, the Moonlight Ramble will assemble at Memorial Plaza, 12th and Market Streets. The Moonlight Ramble is open to the general public and includes people of all ages, sizes, and abilities in a leisurely ride of 10 or 20 miles through St. Louis.

Tickets for the Moonlight Ramble are on sale now through local bicycle shops, area Famous-Barr stores, and the Ozark Area Council office of American Youth Hostels located at 1808 S. 12th Street.

Registration forms, which will hold tickets for pickup the morning of the Moonlight Ramble, are available at area 7-11 stores. Pre-registration is $2. Call (314) 421-2044.

Novich to play at MacMurray

Steve Novich, a 1986 graduate of Granite City High School, is one of nine new football recruits to suit up for the MacMurray College Fighting Highlanders in Jacksonville, Ill., this fall.

Novich (6-1, 180 pounds) is pencilled in at linebacker for head coach Robin Cooper, who is starting the third year of the football program at MacMurray.

The Fighting Highlanders will play their first-ever full slate of varsity games in 1986, including confrontations with such Division III teams as Washington University, DePaul and Augustana.

Of gin rummy and Don Ebert

In a recent column, I mentioned that I had charged certain athletes who played for SIUE a fee for me to teach them how to play gin rummy.

That little literary opus stirred up a hornet's nest or angry written protest most (of seven, which is a rather large volume since readers are reluctant to take pen in hand) of whom thought I was taking advantage of young men not too skilled at games of chance.

I'm truly sorry that many of my readers thought I would take advantage of student athletes who needed their money. Not so. In all cases, my games of gin rummy were for extremely small stakes. Not at any one time did more than one-tenth of a cent change hands.

The games served to reduce the boredom while traveling on buses and planes.

A serious note about playing cards for money. It's a great American custom and tradition. But I always thought a youngster should be schooled in any game of chance that he or she might take up. And, the teaching — by me — was worthy of the "stakes." In fact, most of the learners were eager to show Ol' Al how the game

Sports of All Sorts

By Al Barnes

is really played.

The game of gin rummy, I've always said, should be a "must take" course at all military schools. It would teach the students how to make critical, and sometimes costly, decisions under the stress of losing.

As far as that goes, I think if the U.S. Congress would pass a law mandating that before a couple got married they should be forced to play bridge together as partners for a year, our divorce rate would be cut in half.

But, honestly, I always took care of the player I instructed — making sure that what I charged would not keep him from eating or paying his bills.

In fact, I still have a flock of tabs from some of the players who have lost to me. I have told a lot of them they could pay me off later.

Some are over five years old. However, I never failed to make the loser sign to verify his loss and have a friend witness it.

And, on the other hand, there are some former Cougars who I have refused to let pay off their debts. I'd rather have them owing me, because I can always say: "Yeah, Don Ebert owes me from losing at gin rummy."

That's the way it was with Ebert, who I consider the best all-around soccer player who ever attended SIUE. Ebert, a graduate of Rosary High School in North St. Louis County, is now a member of the St. Louis Steamers.

The last year Ebert played for the Cougars was 1979. The season started off with a tough trip to the West Coast for five games. With Coach Bob Guelker just out of the hospital after having bypass heart surgery, the Cougars won five of their first six games.

In the opener, Ebert scored the fastest goal I ever witnessed against Simon Fraser in Vancouver, Canada. Ebert dashed in, stole the kick and scored after only six seconds had been played.

It was on that trip West and leading up to the national championship game, in which the Cougars won 3-2 over Clemson at Tampa, that I gradually built up the tab that Ebert still owes me.

Before that championship game in Florida, Ebert owed me $26.

After beating Penn State 2-1 in the semifinals, Ebert was supposed to get to bed early. However, he came to my room and said "Al, let's play some gin."

So, I went to work on building up Ebert's confidence. I knew I didn't have that much time, because Ebert would need to get at least eight hours of sleep so he would be well-rested for the game the next day.

It called for some considerable skill of not only playing winning cards, but also in losing. The young man's confidence needed to be at its highest.

Before 11 p.m. rolled around, Ebert had cut his losses to $19.99, and he had left my room with the confidence that he could not only beat Clemson, but a team led by Pete.

My plan worked to perfection, as Ebert played the best game of his college career, even though he didn't score a goal. As the Clemson defense keyed on Ebert, Pat Malloy scored three times as SIUE won the NCAA Division I title.

By the way, Ebert still owes me almost $20.

Huneke takes charge at SIUE

By Chris Ochoa
Staff writer

Although the calendar says it's August, there's a hint of fall in the air.

That means it's almost time for the SIUE soccer team to start practice, which suits new Cougar Coach Ed Huneke just fine.

"I'm looking forward to getting out of the office and back out on the soccer field," Huneke said. "I've been working on promotions at this point. I feel more like a businessman than a coach."

Huneke will soon be at work on the field, with the team's first practice scheduled for Saturday. It might seem the Cougars' new mentor has quite a challenge in his first year — following the late Bob Guelker as coach.

But Huneke, who played under Guelker from 1967-71, played the situation in stride. He said anytime someone takes over for a coach, Guelker's stature, comparisons are made.

"It's happened in a lot of other sports, with people like John Wooden or Vercil Fletcher (Collinsville basketball coach)," Huneke said. "But my situation is different. The nature of the game has changed. The game's more widespread. The St. Louis area does not have a monopoly on players."

For years Metro-East residents have complained that the SIUE program concentrated its recruiting from the high schools west of the Mississippi.

However as the game has grown throughout the metro area, Huneke says he'll take a closer look at players living closer to the SIUE campus.

"The first day I was hired (May 10), I announced my commitment to that idea," Huneke said. "To a certain extent, the east side players have been overlooked. But my experience at Lewis & Clark showed me that the east side can play at a high level. They'll get looked at much more than in the past."

Huneke's recruitment of Illinois players is tied in with his efforts to increase attendance at SIUE games.

It's all in the name of marketing the product — NCAA Division I soccer.

If marketing talk sounds a bit unusual coming from a soccer coach, it's because Huneke's plans didn't originally include soccer coaching.

Huneke received his bachelor's degree in marketing from SIUE in 1971 and went on to St. Louis University for his MBA. When he applied for a teaching position at Lewis & Clark Community College, his background in soccer was noted in the interview.

"They asked me if I would be interested in coaching soccer, and like a typical interviewee, I said, 'Sure, I'll do it,'" Huneke said. Huneke got the job — both of them.

In his nine years with the Bucks, Huneke also discovered he had developed more of an interest for a coaching career than a teaching career.

"It's interesting how the turns and twists of life develop," he said.

As Huneke became more involved in coaching, he thought about the possibility of moving on to a four-year program, perhaps even to his alma mater, SIUE.

"(Coaching at) SIUE was my ultimate dream," Huneke said. "It was just my fondness of the university. It was a real special feeling of getting the opportunity to coach here."

The Cougars will have a good mixture of veterans and rookies this season. One of SIUE's starters is likely to be Kevin Hundell, one of the best prep players in the U.S. last year.

However, no one will be assured of a job this season, Huneke said. That as a new coach, both he and the players will start with a "clean slate."

"That will increase the intensity of the pursuit (for a starting position)," Huneke said. Beginning with this season, SIUE fans will be treated to a slightly different brand of soccer than they're accustomed to watching — a more offense-oriented game.

As Huneke talked about his plans for the Cougar program, he was greeted by a fan who remembered him during his playing days.

"We used to yell, 'We want Huneke. We want Huneke,'" the fan said. "Then when Ed ran out onto the field, we'd say, 'No, we want Denny (his brother).'"

Ed Huneke doesn't have to worry about which Huneke they're yelling for this time. Just look behind the Cougar bench for the answer.
